GC school bond petition drive appears successful

Voters in the Granite City School District will apparently get an opportunity in November to vote whether they wish to allow the school board to sell $6.6 million worth of bonds to create a working cash fund. Petitions bearing 3,891 signatures of persons calling for a referendum on the issue were turned in to the Board of Education office Friday and Saturday.

First to turn in a petition with 10 signatures Friday was Betty DeRuntz. At 11 a.m. Saturday, Nameoki Township Tax Collector Norman Hall and his wife, Kay, hand delivered petitions bearing 2,681 notarized signatures to School Board Secretary Tom Miosky at the board office. Later Saturday, Nameoki Township Trustee Helen Hawkins delivered 1,200 more notarized signatures on her petition forms to board office secretary Marge Burdge.

THE 3,891 signatures far exceeds the 2,588 signatures (10 percent of the registered voters in the district) required to put the bond issue on referendum in November. If 10 percent of the voters had not petitioned for referendum, the bond issue would have been automatically instituted under laws allowing so-called "back door referendums."

In presenting his petitions to Miosky, Hall stated, "I am sorry we have been placed in the position of having to present these petitions. But, on behalf of the 2,681 registered voters (the number of signatures the Hall group obtained) of the Granite City School District 9, I do hereby present you with these petitions with the fervent hope that our board of education, rather than applying any possible lifesaving techniques, will instead conduct the necessary autopsy to put your back door bond issue to rest, once and for all."

Hall also told Miosky, "When you present a five-year plan of where the money will go, I will be the first one to back you."

MRS. HAWKINS said that many more people signed petitions than were counted. She said some petitions returned to her were not notorized, so they were thrown out. More than 2,000 signatures were collected by her group, but only 1,200 were properly signed by the people who circulated them and were notarized.

The school district plans to use the $6.6 million, if approved by the voters this November, to create a working cash fund so it can borrow money from its own funds, rather than from banks. The money can be invested while not needed and draw interest. Then it can be borrowed interest free by the district, rather than paying interest to banks on borrowed money.

School officials say a working cash fund is particularly needed when the tax cycle is running slow, as it is now, since extensive borrowing is required to keep the school district operating until taxes are received. Norman Owca, director of finance for the district, estimates that the Granite City schools currently are paying $1,415 a day in interest on money it has had to borrow to keep operating.

CALLING FOR REFERENDUM. Nameoki Township Tax Collector Norman Hall, left, presents petitions bearing 2,681 signatures calling for a November referendum on the Granite City School District's call for a $6.6 million bond issue. Receiving the petition Saturday morning are the board office secretary, Marge Burdge, and School Board Secretary Tom Miosky.

School financial head cites $1 million revenue drop

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

Preparing a budget to submit to the Granite City Board of Education for tentative approval Aug. 21 may prove a difficult task in light of anticipated reductions in income, late tax collections and other matters, Norman Owca, director of finance for the Granite City School District, commented Thursday afternoon.

Addressing the Granite City Optimist Club at the YMCA, Owca said that the latest figures available to him show that revenue from the state for the educational fund will decrease by $957,000 this year from last year's level and special education funding will decline by about $65,000. The combined decline, estimated at in excess of $1 million, is not expected to be offset by increases in property taxes, he said.

SINCE EXACT figures are not available on the assessed valuation of real property in the school district yet, Owca says he plans to prepare the budget assuming a two percent rise in the assessed valuation, which will only raise about $180,000.

In past years, Granite City's assessment has risen an average of about six percent a year, so the tentative budget which will be presented to the school board may be conservative and subject to change if revenues from property taxes exceed his projections, he said.

Interest on borrowed and invested funds is another factor in trying to balance the budget, Owca said. With tax collections running late and the district relying on $6.1 million of borrowed money to operate, $1,415 a day is being spent on interest alone. That $1.4 million will be repaid from the first taxes received.

OWCA SAID that if tax collections were just two months late this year, as they were last year, that would cost the district $44,747. Since it appears that tax collections may be four months late this year, that figure might double to more than $89,000, he noted.

The district borrowed $5 million in tax anticipation notes July 1 which are not due to be repaid until

Weber, Allen disagree on experience

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Just as the national political campaign is heating up earlier than usual this year, contenders for Madison County state's attorney did not let 90-degree August weather deter them last week.

The incumbent Republican prosecutor, Don W. Weber, 35, said his challenger is "philosophically a pro-defense, anti-prosecution attorney with no background in law enforcement."

Weber is running on his record of busy activity during the past four years.

AIDING HIM is the indictment Thursday of a Glen Carbon woman on three counts of murder (reviving the Gusewelle murder cases of 1977 and 1979). And there is speculation about a spectacular new case this fall involving unknown persons.

Democrat Richard Allen, 58, also is promising to be "tough on crime." He cites his prosecutorial experience and pledges "responsible handling of the power of the state's attorney's office." Aware that judges and others have raised questions about Weber's "shoot from the lip" brashness, in some instances removing him from handling certain cases—and aware that his party is badly outnumbered in this county—Weber may feel that, in football terms, "a good offense is the best

Madison jail lawsuit threat enrages Chief Don Bridick

By SUSAN SIGNARO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

A recent threat of a lawsuit against the city of Madison for failing to comply with state standards on their city jail has left Police Chief Don Bridick angry.

Bridick concedes that there are some discrepancies between the conditions of the city jail and the state statutes, but says the city has been working to rectify the problems for two months.

ACCORDING TO findings by the Illinois attorney general's office, Madison's jail has not been in compliance with Department of Correction standards since the standards were established in the late 1970s.

Madison has been cited on several occasions for falling below standards—the most recent inspection report being issued on May 8 of this year. That report pointed out the following problems:

—Inadequate space for prisoners. Standards require that there be at least 50 square feet of space for prisoners in each cell.

—BROKEN WINDOWS, loose pipes on cell ceilings and broken security screens.

Johnson responds to letter

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

"It's libelous and trash," is how Circuit Judge William E. Johnson responded this morning to a letter circulated Thursday by GOP chairman Dr. Edward Ragsdale opposing Johnson's retention in November balloting.

Ragsdale released a letter Thursday that he sent to the Illinois Supreme Court critical of Johnson's performance and his "occasionally bizarre" behavior, "as when he apologized to a condemned man who had brutally slaughtered an Alton businessman and had been found guilty by a jury and sentenced to death," the letter said. (An edited version of the letter appears in the Forum on today's editorial page.)

UNOFFICIAL sources say the Supreme Court rejected the letter and told Dr. Ragsdale that formal procedures should be followed if Ragsdale wants to make the charges official. That could not be confirmed this morning.

Johnson was asked if rumors that he plans to sue Dr. Ragsdale over the letter are true and he answered, "I don't really want to say anything about that."

Boy hit by truck dies

Anthony Backstrom, 15, of 501 Jefferson Ave., Venice, was fatally injured Thursday morning, when his bicycle was hit by a Venice city garbage truck.

Police officials said that Joseph Hibbler, 53, of 1222 Market St., Madison, was driving the garbage truck when the accident occurred. Hibbler stated that he was making a right turn onto Broadway from Fourth Street, when he felt a thump. He then heard the men on the back of the truck yelling for him to stop and he complied.

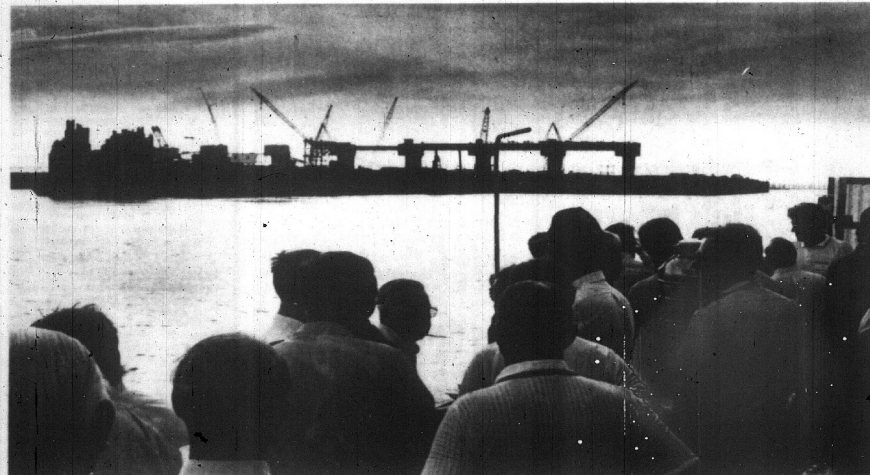

POLICE SAID the men riding on the back of the truck had warned the youth not to get too close to the truck on several occasions that same morning.

The teen's bicycle apparently went underneath of the city truck as it was making the right turn. Madison County Deputy Coroner Ed Besserman said the youth suffered multiple head and chest trauma injuries on the left side of his body, in addition to internal injuries.

He was transported by Madison Ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was pronounced dead by Besserman at 8:42 a.m. There will be an inquest.

Details on funeral services are given in today's obituary column.

VIEW FROM THE WATER of the $800 million Alton Locks and Dam project was provided more than 200 local dignitaries and officials during a VIP boat trip up the Mississippi from the Tri-City Regional Port to Alton Thursday afternoon. The trip was part of the local port's celebration of its 25th anniversary. A public open house with numerous activities and exhibits, is planned for Saturday, Aug. 25, at the port.

2 charges against truck driver in Route 3 crash

The truck driver in the Aug. 6 crash at Illinois Route Three and Niedringhaus Avenue, Gregory L. McDaniels, 29, Carlinville, has been charged with disobeying a traffic light and driving too fast for conditions.

The woman whose subcompact auto was struck, Mrs. Rosalie Harris, 35, of 2235 Madison Ave., is in stable condition and under intensive care at Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Rushed by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, she was in critical condition and was transferred by helicopter to St. Louis. She was described as having shown some improvement.

Her husband told the Press-Record she has a broken collarbone, broken ribs and fractures of facial bones. There were internal injuries, and her spleen was removed by surgeons.

On her way to work in St. Louis at 8:05 a.m., she drove west from Niedringhaus and was planning to make a left turn to go south on Route

Three. Before she could turn, the left side of her car was struck by the right front of the northbound tractor-trailer.

The auto was knocked past the northeast corner of the intersection, traveling 42 feet. The windshield remained in one piece but had been propelled out of the vehicle.

McDaniels was descending the Chicago Avenue overpass. About halfway down, he noticed that the traffic signal at the base of the viaduct had turned red.

2 BATTERY COUNTS FILED

Dennis Dunnivant, 26, of 1726 Delmar Ave. was arrested on two counts of battery at noon Thursday after allegedly shoving Lillian Smith and Shelly Turner at a home in the 1200 block of Granite Avenue. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after allegedly inflicting a cut on the top of his left forearm with a razor at the residence.

Madison High resets student schedule pickup

Madison Senior High School officials have announced that, due to unforeseen circumstances, students will not be allowed to pick up their class schedules until the week of Aug. 20. Bulletins previously distributed to students indicated that the schedules would be available Aug. 13.

Schedules will be available to freshmen students Aug. 20 and 21, to sophomores Aug. 22, to juniors Aug. 23 and to seniors Aug. 24. The school office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m. each day. Students will begin classes Aug. 28.

Fire district adopts new transit fees

The Mitchell Fire Protection District Board of Trustees has approved a new ordinance that sets fees for service and assistance to transit entities. Board Secretary Melvin Eberhart says the ordinance applies to such cases as truck, vehicle or transport fires.

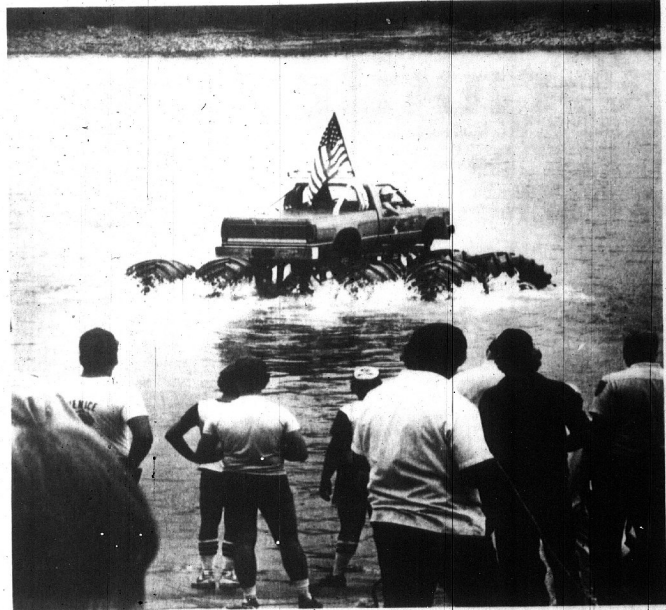

According to Eberhart, the charge for services rendered will be $250 for the first two hours of any single call of assistance. After two hours, there is an additional charge of $25 per hour per vehicle and $10 per hour per firefighter responding to the call for assistance.

Eberhart says the new ordinance is part of a trend among fire protection districts. Before the ordinance, the Mitchell Fire Protection District had no fees relating to such cases.

The new fees do not affect residents of fire districts or municipalities which participate with the Mitchell Fire Protection District in any mutual aid or assistance arrangement. Residents of the Mitchell Fire Protection District who pay property taxes levied by the district also are exempt from the new fees.

In other action, the Board of Trustees elected Golden Barton as president, Eberhart as secretary and Michael J. Lesko as treasurer.

CHALLENGING OLD MAN RIVER. Little Bear Foot, a modified Chevy 5-10 pickup truck owned and driven by Granite Cityan Fred Shaler, takes a cruise on the Mississippi River from the Venice boat ramp this month. Normally crushing cars with its eight huge tires, the truck challenged the river in preparation for an appearance later this month in Tennessee. More than 100 people witnessed the unusual spectacle. The eight-wheel-drive vehicle maneuvered without difficulty during its two excursions on the river. (Press-Record Photo by Patrick Foley)

2 counts of battery charged

Michael Lee Lindsey, 19, of 710 State St., Madison, was charged with two counts of battery and resisting arrest last week after police answered a call concerning a domestic quarrel.

Madison Policeman Gary Marsala and Sgt. William Fanning were met at the residence by Mrs. Michael Lindsey, who told police that her husband allegedly beat her and that she wanted him out of the house.

While police were in the kitchen, Lindsey entered the area and allegedly started cursing and shouting, knocking things off the counter and throwing canned goods, boxes of cereal and assorted foods at Sgt. Fanning.

Fanning advised Lindsey to stop, but Lindsey allegedly swung a fist at Fanning, hitting his eye. Lindsey continued to fight and force had to be used to restrain him, officers said. Fanning received a cut to his left eye as a result of the punch and his eye was nearly swollen shut due to the injury. It was also noted that Marsala was struck during the altercation, resulting in minor injuries.

Lindsey was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

GC council hears alcoholism talk

A presentation last week concerning the effects of alcoholism and drug abuse, prompted Granite City Alderman Carl Kittel to suggest that all city department heads attend a workshop to help them identify these types of problems in their workers.

The motion was rejected, however, and the matter was referred to the city's safety committee. Della Kinsolving, a representative of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Talbot Hall, had urged council members during the presentation, to familiarize themselves with the services of Talbot Hall. She said the drinking problem affects many, since it not only affects the alcoholic, but the family and friends of the alcoholic as well.

She also suggested that the city adopt an employee assistance policy, which would identify alcoholism and drug abuse as diseases and allow the affected person to receive sick pay while being treated at a rehabilitation center.

The city currently has no such policy. There is litigation pending on a city case in which a city employee is seeking sick pay for the time he spent in a rehabilitation center.

STEAL MOTORCYCLES

A thief stole an automatic garage door opener from the pickup truck of Earl Toney, 227 Ohio Ave., then entered the garage and removed two Kawasaki motorcycles last week. Both machines—1984 and 1983 models—are green, the owner said.

Parking cards an expanded service for handicapped

New parking cards that will allow temporarily and permanently disabled persons greater access to designated handicapped parking spaces are now available through the Secretary of State's Office, Secretary of State Jim Edgar said.

Availability of the new cards is particularly important to disabled persons in Chicago, Edgar said, since the city of Chicago will no longer be issuing handicapped parking cards now that new cards with statewide applicability are available.

Edgar asked the General Assembly to authorize his office to issue uniform handicapped parking cards after many municipalities began adopting inconsistent handicapped parking policies that made cards issued in some cities invalid in others.

"These new cards will eliminate confusion and ensure that handicapped parking facilities are available to all disabled persons, whether or not they have access to a car with handicapped license plates," Edgar said. "The special cards are durable and easily transferable from one vehicle to another, which will make it easier on disabled persons who rely on friends and relatives," Edgar said.

"All these new policies reflect a growing public interest in giving the disabled greater freedom and self-reliance," he said. "People are not getting equal treatment if they are not given equal access to highways and parking lots."

Almost 17,000 handicapped license plates have been issued since they first became available in 1975.

To prevent improper use of the special plates and cards by people without disabilities, written verification of a disability signed by a physician is required. People with permanent disabilities will be eligible to receive bright orange parking cards good for two years. People with temporary disabilities lasting at least 12 months will receive bright green cards.

Applications for special plates or cards may be obtained by contacting: Non-Standard Plates Section, 537 Centennial Building, Springfield, Ill. 62756, or by phoning 1-217-782-2434 or call toll-free 8-800-252-8980.

Older persons advised to take precautions from heat

Director Janet S. Ottwell of the Illinois Department on Aging is advising older persons to take extra precautions to prevent accidental heat stress during the month of August.

"The dangers caused by hot weather cannot be taken lightly," she said. "Extreme heat can cause dangerous strain on an older person's body, and may result in sickness or even death."

She recommends that the elderly keep cool in the hot weather by taking the following precautions:

- Persons should spend as much time as possible in cooler surroundings, such as a cooler room in the home, an air-conditioned shopping mall, senior center, public library or movie.
- They should use their air conditioning or a fan.
- Older persons should take cool baths or showers.
- They should wear light-weight, loose-fitting clothing.
- Persons should drink plenty of water.
- They should slow down their physical activity.

Older persons should avoid hot foods and heavy meals.

Persons should check with their doctor before increasing the amount of salt or potassium in their diet.

They also should avoid drinking alcoholic beverages.

"Older persons should be particularly aware of the early signs caused by the hot weather," the director said. "Heat stress can cause physical and mental changes. These changes are warning signs that your body is in danger."

"Most people feel hot and uncomfortable during the hot weather and may notice a lack of energy or loss of appetite. These are mild signs and, unless they last a long time, there is no need to be alarmed."

She said that more serious signs include dizziness, rapid heartbeat, diarrhea, nausea, throbbing headache, dry skin (no sweating), chest pain, great weakness, mental changes, breathing problems, vomiting and cramps.

She said persons exhibiting these symptoms need to call a doctor or seek medical help.

Galesburg prison is latest state lease-back experiment

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the state will seek bids from private developers for the construction of a 750-bed, medium-security prison in Galesburg which will be leased back to the state.

"This is one of three pilot projects that has been authorized by the General Assembly to determine if the state will realize cost and time savings by working with private developers," the governor said. "This method of financing and constructing public facilities through the private sector has been effective in California and other states and these projects should give us a good indication if it will be useful in future projects in Illinois."

Legislation recently signed by Thompson would permit the city of Galesburg to submit a proposal.

A new mental health facility in Dixon and a state office building in Collinsville also are scheduled for construction by private developers and will be leased to the state, the governor said.

"We have been reducing the state's reliance on general obligation bonds. If construction through private developers proves effective in these projects, it would provide us with a mechanism to make major capital improvements without issuing bonds," he said.

The state will place notices in newspapers within the next two weeks to inform interested developers of procedures to be followed to become prequalified to obtain plans for the facility and to submit proposals. Construction is targeted to begin in the late fall or early spring, with completion of the prison expected approximately 18 months from the start of construction.

The Galesburg prison will be built on a 70.6 acre site at the west edge of the city in an industrial park area. The land on which the facility will be built was donated by private citizens through the Galesburg Chamber of Commerce.

An average of 220 construction workers will be employed during the building phase. When operational, the prison will employ 425 persons, most of whom will be hired from the Galesburg area. The prison will have an annual budget of $15 million.

The facility will be surrounded by two security fences, both fences topped with sharp acorned wire. Gun towers will be placed at strategic positions along the perimeter fences.

Correctional officers to supervise the inmates will receive an intensive five-week training course at the Department's Training Academy in Springfield.

State keeps its AAA bond rating

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that Moody's Investors Service has once again given Illinois a Triple-A bond rating.

"Moody's has again expressed confidence in this state by continuing our Triple-A rating. And they had good reason to give us this top rating. The Illinois economy is expanding, both in the areas of employment and income, and state fiscal policies during the past year have allowed us to get back on track in moving Illinois forward," the governor said.

The rating by Standard and Poor's Corp., which is currently Double-A, is expected later in the week for this offering.

The state will offer $150 million in state general obligation bonds Tuesday. A high credit rating helps keep the state's construction costs lower by allowing the state to pay lower debt service on bonds.

USE OF A FORGED PRESCRIPTION ALLEGED

Two Venice residents were arrested by Collinsville police last week after an attempt was allegedly made to pass a forged prescription at Ogle Drug, 228 W. Main.

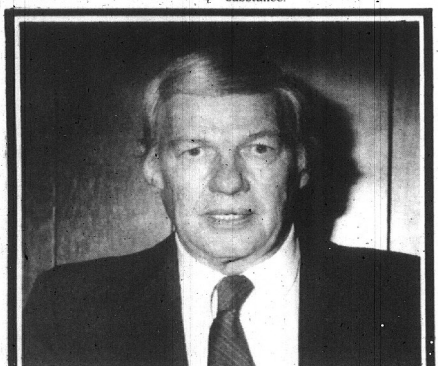

Pamela Craig, 24, and Donald Craig, 26, were charged with attempting the unlawful acquisition of a controlled substance.

Pharmacist Judy Weiss said she became suspicious when the woman handed her a prescription on a photocopied form. The patient listed on the form was not the woman turning in the prescription, Mrs. Weiss said.

Donald Craig allegedly told police he had taken a form used by a doctor as a receipt for an office visit, blanked out the writing and copied the form.

Board of Appeals okays 3 petitions

Members of the Granite City Board of Appeals endorsed three construction requests at their monthly meeting last week.

Although there was not a quorum of board members at the meeting, four additional members were phoned for their vote.

Permits endorsed were for Charles Lybarger, 1820 Primrose Ave., to construction of a 24 by 24-foot garage to be built two feet from the side property line.

Lybarger submitted a letter of approval from the adjoining neighbor.

There being no objectors, the petition was approved with the stipulation that there must be proper gutting so that there will be no drainage problems.

Also endorsed was the petition of Dale Burkett, 2523 Circle Drive, for construction of a 22 by 12-foot addition to his residence, to be built three feet from the side property line.

Burkett also submitted a letter of approval from his adjoining neighbor. There were no objectors at the hearing and the petition was endorsed subject to proper gutting.

A third endorsement was given to a construction request by Dan Taylor, 2577 Boyle Ave., for construction of a 24 by 24-foot garage to be built three feet from the side property line.

Taylor submitted a letter of approval from the adjoining neighbor. There was a letter from another neighbor, stating some objections, but it was determined that the objections had nothing to do with the actual building of the garage, just what type of work would be conducted in the building. There being no other objectors, the petition was approved subject to proper gutting.

All recommendations are subject to approval by the city council.

Hagnauer retained on steering committee

Nelson Hagnauer, of Granite City, chairman of the Madison County Board, has been reappointed to the National Association of Counties Community Development Steering Committee by Phil Elstrom, the newly-elected president of NACo. Elstrom is a representative of Kane County, Ill.

NACo's 11 steering committees form the policy-making arm of county government. Each committee is composed of approximately 40 county officials who meet during the year to examine issues critical to local government.

Their recommendations on county legislative goals are presented to the nation's county officials at NACo's annual conference. If approved, the recommendations become part of the American County Platform.

NACo's official policy document.

Hagnauer has served on this committee two years and was appointed based on his knowledge and success with the Madison County Community Development program, a spokesman said.

Founded in 1935, the National Association of Counties (NACo) works to improve county government, to act as a national spokesman for counties, to serve as a liaison between counties and other levels of government, and to achieve a public understanding of the role of counties in the federal system.

With headquarters in Washington, D.C., the association has more than 2000 member counties representing 42,000 elected and appointed county officials.

3 lose licenses on DUI convictions

Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced that the driver's licenses of three Quad-City area residents have been revoked for convictions of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Licenses revoked were those of Benjamin F. Almand, 44, of Niedringhaus Ave., Timothy W. Burns, 20, of 5040 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, and Benjamin F. Clark III, 27, of 2908 Buxton Ave.

Edgar also announced that the state has rescinded its previous action revoking the license of Jo Ann Lucas, 37, of 244 Jeanette Drive.

County offers vocational training plan

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, has announced that the county's Employment and Training Department has finalized agreements with area educational and training institutions to provide vocational training opportunities for eligible economically disadvantaged residents of Madison and Bond Counties. The tuition and other training-related costs will be paid by the department.

Hagnauer noted that there are openings for trainees in the following fields: secretarial, heating and air conditioning repair, pharmacy technician, nurse's aide, building maintenance, computer technician, clerk-typist, security guard and business machine repair.

The training opportunities are a part of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program, which is administered by the county and the Madison-Bond County Private Industrial Council.

Madison and Bond County residents who are interested in taking advantage of this training may contact their nearest Illinois Job Service Office for an appointment to apply for the JTPA program. In Granite City the number is 451-5756.

GOP names candidate for county auditor

Madison County Republican Party Chairman Dr. Edward H. Ragsdale announced Thursday that Mike McNamee, a certified public accountant in Alton, has agreed to be the GOP candidate for county auditor.

The official announcement of his candidacy is to be made today at a nominating meeting.

"McNamee will be far more qualified than the present incumbent, who has done little to protect the taxpayers' interests," Dr. Ragsdale said.

McNamee is a former college faculty member. He has an associate degree in business, a bachelor's degree in accounting and a master's degree in taxation as well as his CPA certification.

He has served as an ambassador for the Alton Chamber of Commerce. He is married, has seven children and is a member of St. Mary's Church in Alton.

"He is an outstanding candidate who has obviously superior credentials than the incumbent and should attract many Democratic and independent voters," Dr. Ragsdale predicted.

Report on Japanese markets will be released to Congress

The Reagan Administration, acting on a request from Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), has agreed to submit a report to Congress on Japan's efforts to open its markets to U.S. exporters.

Percy requested the report in a July 26 letter to Secretary of State George Shultz and announced that he received the secretary's key agreement by letter last week. Percy said that "this report should be of great interest to the American business community and to Congress."

"When we are looking at a possible trade deficit of $20 billion with Japan this year, it is crucial to U.S. business and U.S. workers that we get a fair shake in the lucrative Japanese market," said Percy. "American business must have the same access to Japan as the Japanese have to the United States."

Percy, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, pointed out in his letter to Secretary Shultz that the Japanese government, in fact, has put forward a number of trade liberalization packages since 1980. Percy said that an administration report would "encourage the further implementation of Japanese promises contained in the trade liberalization packages so that more opportunities are opened to American business" while, at the same time acknowledge the meaningful efforts that the Japanese have made.

The report will be submitted to Congress by Oct. 15.

Percy requested that the report be unclassified so that it can be shared with the U.S. business community and the Congress.

Pre-school conducts open house

An open house for parents and friends of children enrolled in St. Peter School for the Young Years, 2109 Cleveland Blvd., will be observed Sunday, Aug. 26, from 2 to 4 p.m., at the school.

All classrooms will be open for inspection and teachers and board members will be present to answer questions or serve as tour guides. Refreshments also will be served.

Classes are under the direction of Mrs. Darlene Bozard and Mrs. Sheila McCauley. Mrs. Bozard is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE) with a degree in early childhood development. She has been with the school for four years.

Mrs. McCauley will resume her second year of teaching at the school. She also is a graduate of SIUE, and has taught six years in the Granite City school system.

For further information about the open house, interested persons may call the church office at 877-1904, between the hours of 9 and 11:30 a.m. Mondays through Fridays.

BURGLAR LOOTS PARKED CAR

A burglar broke into the parked auto of Sharon Julian, 2134a Adams St., in the 1700 block of Edison Avenue last week and took clothing, books, prescription medicine and bills of sale. In an unrelated case, a burglar obtained a $250 radio and cassette player, a basket and clothes last week at the apartment of Brian Brutto, 1539a Madison Ave.

TRESPASS, THEFT ARREST

Terry Chandler, 20, E. St. Louis, was arrested in the 4600 block of Kirkpatrick Homes this month on charges of trespassing, property damage and attempted petty theft. Associate Judge George Moran Jr. held that he be held for state authorities, and he was transferred to the Madison County Jail.

Launch search for new state school leader

The State Board of Education is seeking candidates to become the next state superintendent of education. The board's goal is to have an individual selected no later than Jan. 1, 1985. Supt. Donald G. Gill will retire next July.

The next session of the General Assembly will be a critical one for education," explained Walter W. Naumer Jr., chairman of the board. "School improvement will certainly be high on the agenda of the session, which begins in January."

A new superintendent will be involved with implementing the laws designed to improve schools and should, therefore, be "on board" in time to work with the legislature and governor during the entire session in which those laws are enacted.

Lavern L. Cunningham, professor of educational administration at Ohio State University, will coordinate the search for the board. He will be assisted by R. Bruce McPherson, chairman of the Department of Educational Administration at the University of Illinois in Chicago.

A panel of nationally recognized education and business leaders will seek candidates who meet the board's criteria and conduct initial screening to determine which best meet the criteria.

The panel will include Adrienne V. Bailey, vice-president of academic affairs for The College Board and a former State Board member; Donald Beggs dean of the College of Education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale; John Corbally Jr., president of the MacArthur Foundation and former president of the University of Illinois; H. Thomas James, president of the Lyle A. Spencer Foundation in Chicago; Stanley O. Ikenberry, president of the University of Illinois; and Fidel L. Lopez, vice president and director of the area Development Division of Continental Bank, Chicago.

The Board has set Oct. 8 as the deadline for receipt of applications for the position of state superintendent of education.

Applications or nominations should be submitted directly to Dr. Lavern Cunningham, superintendent of educational administration at Ohio State University, 1000 Neil Avenue, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

Dr. Gill has held the position since Aug. 1, 1980. He announced in June that he would be retiring in 1985.

Gill is the second to be appointed by the state Board of Education, which assumed responsibility for elementary, secondary and vocational education in 1975. Previously, the office was elective.

ALCOHOL RELATED CHARGE

Clarence R. Guy, 44, of East St. Louis, was arrested last week at Klein and Brown streets, Venice, on charges of driving while his license was suspended and illegal transportation of alcohol. He was released upon posting a $204 cash bond.

County bar association selects William Beatty

The Madison County Bar Association has elected William S. Beatty of Granite City as president. He succeeds in office Gary Peel of Edwardsville.

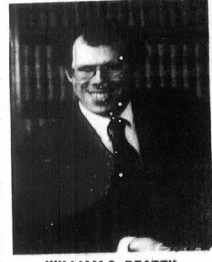

Also named to lead the association in 1984-85 were: William Billeaud of Edwardsville, vice president; Joseph Brown Jr. of Troy, treasurer; and Al Pransitis of Alton, secretary.

The new officers will assume their duties Aug. 23 at the association's dinner meeting at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville.

Beatty is a 1973 graduate of the University of Missouri at Columbia and a 1976 graduate of St. Louis University School of Law.

He resides at 2323 Cleveland Blvd., with his wife, Mollie, and their two children, Elizabeth, 3, and 1-year-old William.

Beatty practices law in Granite City.

VIPs cruise the river to the new Alton Locks, Dam

CRUISING THE MISSISSIPPI, more than 200 area governmental officials, dignitaries and Corps of Engineers officials were treated to a ride on the Corps' party barge, pushed by Ari's Floating Service's towboat "Senator Sam" from the Tri-City Regional Port to the new $800 million Alton Lock and Dam Thursday afternoon. Above, one of the visitors views one of the giant cranes building the locks. At the top right, William Sutton, project engineer for the lock and dam, holding megaphone, discusses the project. At the right is a view of the barge from the pilothouse of the towboat as they pass the Wood River boat repair facilities.

County Board to consider zoning recommendations

The Madison County Board, during its regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, will consider several zoning recommendations from the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals. The following reports and recommendations from the Board of Appeals concern zoning cases in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice Townships.

The Board of Appeals has recommended that a special use permit to place a mobile home in an R-3 one-family residence district at the intersection of Fourth and Farish streets in Nameoki Township be denied. Owner-occupant Earl Abney made the request.

Albert and Lettie Miles, owners-occupants of a mobile home at 124 Roosevelt Drive in Eagle Park Acres, Venice Township, have requested a special use permit so that they may continue the placement of their mobile home in an R-4 single-family residence district. The Board of Appeals has recommended that the request be granted by the County Board.

The board also is recommending that a special use permit be granted to Charles Jackson, owner-occupant of a mobile home on Watson Street near Roosevelt Street in Eagle Park Acres, Venice Township. Jackson wants to continue the placement of a single-wide mobile home in an R-4 single-family residence district.

Gerald Zimmermann, owner-occupant of a mobile home at 3104 Princeton Drive in State Park Place, has requested a special use permit to continue the placement of that home in an R-4 single-family residence district in Nameoki Township. The recommendation is that the permit be granted.

Tri-Angle Metallurgical has requested a special use permit and a variation to develop land in a flood area so that a mobile home may be replaced and storage space added for a proposed office on Chouteau Island in Chouteau Township. The area is zoned B-4 wholesale business district. The appeals board has recommended that the permit and variation request be approved.

The appeals board has also recommended the granting of a special use permit and variation to develop land in a flood area to Donna and James Morgan, owners-occupants of a mobile home. The couple wants to place a double-wide mobile home in an agricultural district on Chouteau Island.

WOMAN ALLEGES MAN IS CRUEL TO LOCAL ANIMALS

Kathleen Lewis of 1701 Fifth St., Madison, told police last week that a Madison man has been setting out a metal trap with chicken pieces in it to lure her cats and other neighborhood animals. She stated at the time of the report that one of her cats was currently trapped and she was afraid that the man was going to kill it.

She said that the man has allegedly shot and killed several animals from the neighborhood in the past. Madison officers answering the call found the metal trap with Mrs. Lewis' cat still in it. The officer freed the animal and stated he plans to file a complaint against the man alleging cruelty to animals.

Island Fred J. and Norma J. Weller are requesting a special use permit to operate a heating and cooling business in an existing business building at 4264 Highway 162, Nameoki Township. The area is zoned as an R-3 one-family residence district, but the Board of Appeals is recommending that the request be granted.

Shirley M. Stark is petitioning the board for a special use permit to place a double-wide mobile home at 3115 Princeton Drive in State Park Place. The area is zoned as an R-4 single-family residence district in Nameoki Township. The Board of Appeals has endorsed the request.

BURGLAR DUMPS PURSE

After the contents of a purse were found scattered in the grass near a fence in the 2300 block of Winters Drive at 6:45 a.m. Saturday, police learned the purse was taken in a burglary at the home of Grace Hecht, 2338 Winters Drive, whose apartment had been ransacked. A total of $25 was missing from the purse, it was noted.

Realty World Star plans Career Night

Realty World Star, Inc., is sponsoring a Real Estate Career Night for persons interested in a career in real estate. The program is designed to familiarize individuals with the opportunities, requirements and benefits available to a real estate professional.

The program, which is free and open to high school graduates over 21 years of age, will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29, in the offices of Realty World Star, Inc., 3701 Nameoki Road.

Featured speaker for the two-hour program will be Realty World Midwest Regional Director Jim Pitts. He will discuss personal and educational requirements for a real estate license, duties and responsibilities of the real estate salesperson, sales training programs, potential earnings and benefits of a real estate career.

Reservations for the program may be made by calling Realty World Star at 876-0024.

Madison boy, 15, seriously injured

Lester Buckles Jr., 15, of 74 Garesche Homes, Madison, apparently sustained serious injuries in a motorcycle accident occurring at 4:05 p.m. Saturday at the rear of the 100 block of the Garesche Homes.

The youth suffered an apparent injury to his spine, compound fractures of his left arm and left leg and severe lacerations to his nose and face, a Madison police officer said.

He was taken by Madison Fire Department ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was transferred by helicopter to St. Louis University Hospital-Firmen Desloge, St. Louis, according to the officer.

Also injured in the mishap was Tyrone Treadway, 14, of 1314 Oriole St., Venice, who was taken to SEMC by his parents.

The machine, similar to a dirt bike, was traveling east in the alley and was attempting to turn into a playground area when it collided head-on with an iron clothesline post, reports indicated.

BATTERY COMPLAINT SIGNED IN MADISON

Herman Smith Jr., 19, of 86 Garesche Homes, Madison, was charged at 7 p.m. Thursday with battery after a city complaint was signed by Smith's sister, Cynthia.

Miss Smith alleged that her brother and she got into an argument and he grabbed her throat and started to choke her. Police told Smith to leave the apartment but, when he returned later that day, he was taken into custody.

STEREO EQUIPMENT TAKEN

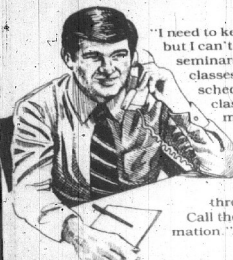

Bill Knucha of 1547 Second St., Madison, told police at 10 p.m. Thursday, that someone entered his home, taking a turntable, a cassette player, a receiver, speakers and assorted costume jewelry. The bedroom of the home was ransacked. Entry was gained by pushing in the back door.

Bi-State honors Roaddeo winners at St. Louis banquet

The Bi-State Development Agency announced its 1984 "Roaddeo" winners at a banquet held in St. Louis recently. More than 100 bus operators and mechanics participated in the competition, which took place June 23 and 24.

"The Roaddeo is held to recognize the dedication, skill and knowledge of all the bus operators and maintenance people who make our bus system go," said Carl Mathias of Granite City, chairman of the Bi-State Board of Commissioners. "I know you all compete every day, but on this occasion we are recognizing the best in a competition among peers."

The bus Roaddeo was divided into two competitions, one for operators and one for maintenance crews. The winning bus operator received an all-expense-paid trip to the international competition. The first place maintenance crew received a $1,000 cash prize to split among its crew members.

To qualify for the competition, bus operators had to have outstanding performance and attendance records. Each operator took a safety quiz consisting of questions regarding the safe operation of a bus, performed a routine pre-trip inspection of a bus containing a number of hidden safety and mechanical defects and was judged on grooming and personal appearance. Then the driving portion of the competition began. Operators had seven minutes to negotiate successfully an 11-part serpentine obstacle course of traffic cones and barrels. They had to make turns, back up, pick up passengers, drive through an area of diminishing clearance and show their brake reaction time.

Bi-State's top driver in the Roaddeo was Edward White, assigned to the new Brentwood Station Garage. He has driven for Bi-State 16 years. He is married and has three children. White will represent Bi-State in the October international competition in Washington, D.C.

Items included in the maintenance competition were driving skills, visual inspections, daily routine service checks, mechanical defects, interior and exterior cleanliness and identification of 20 mechanical components of a bus.

"Team work, accuracy and speed" were the keys to winning the maintenance competition, said Manuel De La O, Bi-State's executive director, in closing. "It's the people who put the buses on the street everyday that make or break a bus company, and we've got the best."

The winning maintenance team represents the South Broadway Garage and consists of Captain Charles Presser, Gerald Creshan, John Osborne, Michael Griffin and Joseph Obenaus.

TOP DRIVER. Edward White shows off the plaque he was awarded as top driver in the 1984 Bi-State Transit Bus Roaddeo competition. Of Bi-State's 1,100 bus operators, White was tops.

Nina Millett is named to state board

Nina Millett, director for Hospice of Madison County, has recently been elected to the Board of Directors of the Illinois State Hospice Organization (ISHO).

Elected by fellow ISHO members, Mrs. Millett played an active role in ISHO functions and outstanding work with Hospice of Madison County since its inception in 1980. As a member of ISHO, she has served on the education committee, nominating committee, and was acting treasurer for one term.

Her duties as a board member will include attending numerous ISHO meetings in Chicago, where she will represent membership at the state level.

"As a representative from this area, I will be speaking especially for the Southern Illinois region," said Mrs. Millett. "There are many developing programs and rural areas in Southern Illinois that need representation and assistance."

Although Mrs. Millett will be very busy with her two-year term as a board member, she feels certain her responsibilities at Hospice of Madison County will not change. As director, Millett is responsible for the administration of Hospice of Madison County.

She also is a nurse and social worker, whose days are filled with meetings, public speaking and numerous visits to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She also has had many articles published in medical journals, such as "Health and Social Work," and has written several chapters for the book, "Hospice Care: Principles and Practice," written by Dr. Charles Corr.

In accepting this position, Mrs. Millett will replace Dr. Charles Corr, who has held the position of treasurer for three years. Dr. Corr is a philosophy professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, who teaches classes on death and dying. He also is a member of Hospice of Madison County.

Bids to be opened on council floor

Granite City aldermen approved a motion last week to open all future bids on the city council floor. The move came after some confusion over the bid price for roof repairs at the city's street department.

The bids had been routed to the city's safety director, who was attempting to contact the city's insurance company for possible coverage of the repairs.

When council members questioned the price of the bid several meetings ago, the safety director was not present and Acting City Engineer Ed Schulze quoted an incorrect price for the bid.

In a committee meeting before the regular council meeting Tuesday night, committee members reviewed that bid and a second bid and voted to reject both bids.

The bids were from Burlingame Construction Company ($28,580) and Home Renovators Construction Co. ($27,716).

Committee members feel that the work should be rebid because of a recent reduction in the roofing demand. Earlier in the summer, when the roof repairs work was advertised, the roofing companies were besieged with a large number of jobs because of the hail damage that occurred in the area.

Committee members now feel that more roofing contractors are available and that a more competitive response to the bid advertisement will be accomplished.

Kendall Bernaix

Kendall J. Bernaix, 73, of Rural Route One, Box 1348, Granite City, was pronounced dead at his home at 3:18 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, 1984, of an apparent gunshot wound to his right temple. Edward Besserman, Madison County deputy coroner, pronounced him dead.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, Mr. Bernaix talked with his daughter Saturday night and seemed to be depressed because of ill health, according to a family spokesman. He was found in the bedroom of his home.

He worked at the Castings Division of General Steel Industries for several years and from 1951 until 1972 he resided in Greenville, Mo., where he owned and operated a restaurant and motel and for seven years served as deputy sheriff of Wayne County, Mo.

Mr. Bernaix was of the Protestant faith and held membership in the Lions Club in Greenville. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Jessie (Boerckel) Bernaix, one daughter, Mrs. Roy (Lore) Jase of Granite City; a brother, Charles Bernaix of Mitchell; three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Browning and Mrs. Marie Gonzales, both of Highland, Ill., and Mrs. William (Ollie) Buckley of New Douglas, Ill.; six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., telephone 877-6500.

Charles Brown

Charles Wilson Brown, 81, of Belleville, died at 5:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, 1984, at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville.

Prior to retiring Dec. 5, 1969, Mr. Brown was employed 40 years as a car inspector by Norfolk & Western Railroad. He worked most of the four decades in the Granite City area railroad yards.

Mr. Brown was born in Oraville, Ill., and resided 60 years in Belleville. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of East St. Louis.

His wife, Mrs. Katharine Brown, died in June 1983.

Among the survivors are a son, Jack Brown of Belleville; a sister, Mrs. Irene Wolfe of Murphysboro, Ill.; and two grandchildren.

Visitation begins at 3 p.m. Monday at Kurl's Funeral Home, 637 N. 27th St., Belleville, where services will take place at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 14, with the Rev. John Lobos officiating. Burial will be in Lake View Memorial Gardens, Belleville.

Clinton Carrico

Clinton "Cheerio" Carrico, 70, of 2325 Lincoln Ave., was pronounced dead at his home by Madison County Deputy Coroner Jack Mizell at 1 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, 1984.

Mr. Carrico had been ill 15 years with a heart ailment. He was born in Evansville, Ind., and resided here 27 years.

Prior to retiring in 1968, Mr. Carrico was employed 11 years as a machinist at McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis County.

He was of the Protestant faith.

Among the survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Cynthia Ward and Mrs. Richard (Carol) Proffitt, both of Granite City; three sons, Mark and Melvin Carrico and Michael Ward, all of Granite City; a brother, Leonard Carrico of Evansville, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Jim (Lore) Shaffer of Evansville and Mrs. Elmer (Eloise) Conger of Indiana; and seven grandchildren.

Visitation was Sunday at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. The body was transferred to Zimmer Funeral Home in Evansville, Ind., where services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 14. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Evansville.

Anna Guthrie

Mrs. Anna G. (Mahnken) Guthrie, 85, a resident of the Edwardsville Care Center for a year, formerly of Madison, died at the facility at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 1, 1984.

She was ill for four weeks. Mrs. Guthrie was born in Benton County, Mo., and lived in Madison 20 years.

Surviving in this area, Mrs. Guthrie worked as a cook at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for 11 years prior to her retirement.

She was a member of Concordia Lutheran Church. Her husband, Dempsey Guthrie, died in 1953.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Anna Mae) Turner of Granite City, and Mrs. Doris Schaefer of Greenville, Ill.; one son, Dempsey Guthrie of Collinsville, Ill.; grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Visitation will begin at 5 p.m. today at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. The Rev. David Fielding will conduct funeral services at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 14, at Concordia Lutheran Church, 2301 Grand Ave., with burial in Sunset Hill Cemetery. Memorials are requested for the church or the American Cancer Society.

Donald Hoelscher

Donald R. Hoelscher, 46, of St. Louis, Mo., and formerly of Granite City, died at 12:23 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, 1984, in an auto accident in the 4000 block of South Broadway in St. Louis.

He was driving a 1978 Buick Wildcat and was wearing his seat belt. A police report said that Mr. Hoelscher was trapped in the burning car. The driver, Robert Drake, 31, of St. Louis, Mo., also died of multiple injuries.

Mr. Hoelscher was born Jan. 1, 1938, in Granite City. At the time of his death, he was employed as a cook at Jimmie's Restaurant in St. Louis. He had served in the U.S. Navy for 10 years.

Mr. Hoelscher was the son of the late George R. Hoelscher. He is survived by his mother, Marie E. Miller; Hoelscher of Edwardsville; a son and daughter, Daniel Hoelscher and Mrs. Pamela Fields, both of Baldwin Park, Calif.; and sister, Mrs. Earl (Carol) Neek of Edwardsville.

Visitation will begin at 5 p.m. today, Aug. 13, at the Weber Funeral Home, 304 North Main Street, Edwardsville. Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 14, in the Weber Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Herbert Stiemler of Eden United Church of Christ in Edwardsville officiating. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road in Granite City.

Court hearing on labor dispute

A court hearing is scheduled for tomorrow on a disagreement over whether construction laborers unions should negotiate as locals or as a multi-county district.

The Laborers' Locals 397 of Granite City and 100 of East St. Louis have not been affected by a work stoppage that was called last week by the County's Southwestern Illinois Laborers District Council.

A 10-day restraining order issued Aug. 1 by Associate Judge Roger Scrivner in St. Clair County allows the laborers locals to continue working against the district is set for Tuesday.

The international union is encouraging council-wide negotiations and contracts, rather than bargaining and agreements by laborer locals.

Negotiations in the 12 counties with the Southern Illinois Builders Association have been handled by Hugo Schewe, district council secretary and business manager.

Schewe's attorney says the locals have a duty to follow directions issued by the international organization. The court for the locals says they are required to negotiate by National Labor Relations Board orders.

Efforts are being made to schedule new bargaining sessions with the SIBA. Negotiating separately, Korte Construction Co. reached an agreement with the district laborers early last week.

It is estimated that about 100 independent contractors have settled with the SIBA.

But the district strike has been preventing work at many highway construction sites, including the Interstate 55 project, a Madison and St. Clair Counties. The SIBA is being blamed for seeking substantial reductions compared to the previous three-year agreement with laborers.

Schewe says the district has reached a tentative agreement with Groves, Atkinson & Ball, general contractor for the Mississippi River lock and dam construction project. There is a tentative pact with S. M. Wilson & Co., enabling work to resume on a flood river water recreation complex.

A tentative agreement also has been reached with a contractor involved in several projects in St. Clair County. Various sewer programs in this region also have been resumed.

Members of the Carpenters District Council of Madison County & vicinity on Saturday elected Charles Muenstermann of Alton as business manager and secretary-treasurer, union officials said.

John Boyles of Collinsville was elected as business representative, defeating Bill Bolin of Wood River. Muenstermann ran against Dean McGovern of Granite City and the incumbent, Terry Thwaitt, longtime Quack-City area leader, who had succeeded John Ubaud when the latter left to go into private business.

Construction of the replacement lock and dam in the Mississippi River continued last week after carpenters' decision to "work and negotiate."

Work was resumed Aug. 7 despite a laborer strike Aug. 4 that has halted highway construction in this region.

After going on strike at the river project Aug. 2, the carpenters agreed to another bargaining session and went back to work in anticipation of "good faith" bargaining and probable progress in the talks.

At the site of work on new lock and dam, carpenters withdrew their pickets Aug. 6 but the general work delay continued due to district laborer pickets. By the next day, a separate entrance had been arranged.

The carpenters are bargaining with Groves, Atkinson & Ball, general contractor. The laborers' dispute is with a lock and dam subcontractor, Laub Brothers Inc.

Carpenters also have completed negotiations on terms of a new agreement with contractors represented by the Southern Illinois Builders Association, but have extended their previous agreement, expiring July 31, for 30 days.

The brief work stoppage by carpenters last week was called "unauthorized" by a spokesman for the international union.

Thwaitt disagreed with this interpretation, and said the Madison County carpenters had been reasonable and flexible on the matter of pile-driving work, while at the same time remaining unwilling to accept crews so small that safety would be jeopardized.

He said the strike not only was legal but conformed to the carpenters' constitution and bylaws.

Programs study drinking habits "Drinking in America," a unique hour-long combination documentary and television program, will be presented Friday, Aug. 17, at 9 p.m. on Channel 9. It will be immediately followed by a Channel 9-produced panel discussion on drinking in St. Louis.

Drinking in America features host Mason Adams, television and movie personality who describes the social development of American drinking habits and attitudes toward alcohol use. The documentary makes use of more historical film footage and recreated docudrama segments to highlight key sequences.

The documentary/discussion program has two principal goals: to illuminate and explain the source of this country's cultural confusion about alcohol use and drinking, and explain the progress in the recognition, detection and treatment of alcoholism and other chemical dependencies.

POLICE WARN RESIDENTS NOT TO DUMP IN CITIES Police officials from Madison and Venice issued a stiff warning to residents Friday that persons dumping in unauthorized places will be prosecuted. The warning came after two people were charged with dumping last week in unrelated incidents.

Allan S. Johnson, 24, of St. Louis, was charged by Venice police at 10:30 a.m. Friday, when he allegedly dumped shingles in the Venice. Dennis James Cruise, 29, of 4010 Braden Ave., was charged by Madison police at 10:30 a.m. Friday, when he allegedly dumped some chairs, a couch and other materials out of his truck at the old boat dock. Johnson was released on $52 cash.

WINDSHIELD IS SMASHED Anthony Divietro of 2804 Dale Ave. told Madison police last week that someone broke the windshield of his car while eating at the Hardee's Restaurant at 1118 Madison Ave.

PLAIN TALK

THE FACTS of funeral service seem clear-cut and straightforward to us. In time of need a person calls us to visit our establishment. We show the merchandise available and explain what our services entail. We emphasize that various options are available to him; any and all of his questions are answered clearly and unambiguously; and arrangements are made in accordance with his wishes. By making all facts known before the service, we make sure there will be no dissatisfaction afterwards.

defense" for his re-election bid.

SELDOM SILENT, anyway, the state's attorney is managing to stay in the news constantly these days. Last week, he put out a press release in discussing and downplaying the skills of his Nov. 6 ballot opponent, commenting that the Democratic nominee is unequal to the job. Allen concedes there has been a lot of "sound and fury" at the County Courthouse in the early 1980s. But he says Weber is concentrated on prosecuting "headline" cases rather than treating all prosecution duties as important tasks.

In an address to the Madison County Grand Jury Association last week in Edwardsville, Weber said Allen does not have sufficient training, experience, instinct or perspective to be an effective state's attorney.

UNABLE TO SPEAK to the group because of another commitment, Allen said his campaign manager, retired Appellate Judge George Moran Sr., was available but was not invited.

The incumbent alleged that Allen has surrounded himself with lawyers of "the loophole persuasion," concerned with freeing rather than penalizing accused persons. Weber implied that, just as Democratic Presidential Candidate Walter Mondale is accused of having links to special interests, Allen might tend to favor his friends in the ranks of the legal profession and the Democratic organization.

"My opponent intends that defense lawyers of Madison County will have a major hand in his administration if he is elected," the Republican officeholder charged.

HE HAS CAREFULLY cultivated the Tri-Cities political machine over the last three years. He will owe his soul to that machine and to the criminal defense lawyers now bankrolling his campaign.

"His service as assistant public defender and as assistant state's attorney under Dick Mudge Jr. and Nicholas Byron does not qualify him. His background in the public defender's office shows he is soft on crime and has been for many years."

"He prosecuted no case under Mr. Mudge or Mr. Byron. Beneath his sham of titles lies nothing more than a sheep in wolf's clothing."

ALLEN SAID HE DID prosecute cases as an assistant state's attorney and also handled prosecutorial work in past years as city attorney of Granite City.

The veteran lawyer related that he is not a part of any political establishment. In response to Weber's boast of being a strong stand against governmental corruption, Allen said he would prosecute any type of corruption found in Madison County.

"I don't know what he bases his statements on. I have said nothing that would indicate I would not be diligent in prosecuting corruption. I will prosecute wrongdoing, whether it is Republicans or Democrats doing it," Allen asserted.

"Rather than being in a machine, I have worked for independent Democrats for many years. I ran against Nelson Hagnauer (Madison County Board chairman and past county Democratic chairman) for supervisor of Granite City Township.

"EVERY CASE would be important under my administration. While Don has gone for headlines on the big cases, he has neglected many other cases which do not have political impact."

"I am willing to debate him, but only after the official misconduct case against him is settled."

"It would not be fair for me to go in there with one hand tied behind my back. I can't really talk about a pending court case during a pre-election political debate."

Although two misconduct charges against Weber were dismissed by the Third Circuit Court, a prosecutor is appealing that ruling and hopes to reinstate the case against Weber.

THE PROSECUTOR takes the position that "criminals have been on the run" since he became state's attorney.

Weber says the average sentence for those convicted of violent crimes has nearly doubled during his administration.

Thirteen of convicted persons sent to prison from Madison County has risen sharply, the volume totaling 36 percent more than in crime.

best St. Clair County, and the reduction in crimes of violence has been 36 percent over the past three years, 2½ times greater here than the statewide average and 3½ times more than in St. Clair, Weber contends.

He adds that he has personally handled more than 100 cases and has an overall conviction rate of 94 percent.

In his talk to the Grand Jury Association, Weber challenged Allen to debate. The association's president, Phil Curry, said he will try to arrange one for Sept. 11, adding that the group does not plan to endorse a candidate in the state's attorney race.

WEBER PROPOSED a $500 limit on each campaign contribution.

Allen said he would gladly agree to such a limit, and noted that Weber plans a $500 per couple fund-raising event soon.

Continuing to praise his record since gaining an upset victory in 1980, Weber said he has kept all his campaign promises, not only sending more people to jail and prison but obtaining death sentences in serious crimes, a perfect six-out-of-six batting average.

Declining to say whether he favors capital punishment, Allen responds that he would enforce the law. "In cases where the death penalty is appropriate, the law will be fully enforced."

"I HAVE WON a number of hard cases. I am the most experienced prosecutor in our county," as Weber sees it.

He told the grand jury association of pioneering in prosecutions, utilizing new legal theories.

In one case, an individual was convicted of murder in connection with a vehicular death; in another, there was successful prosecution of a defendant whose victim died from the psychological trauma of a crime.

Weber also prosecuted, for offenses with children, a teacher in a district that extends into two counties. He acted after St. Clair officials declined to proceed. The defendant later took his own life.

THE INCIDENT takes pride in having reopened a number of Madison County investigations that had been dormant, including the Gusewelle family murders.

He also has announced plans to reopen a case in which an elderly Granite City couple was murdered, but no results of that renewed investigation have been announced.

Weber told former grand jurors that he has cut administrative costs of his office 50 percent while giving deserved raises to assistant state's attorneys and to secretaries.

A LONGTIME ALTON Republican precinct committeeman, John J. Dick, took another view of the way Weber operates his office. Dick said Thursday he is backing Allen because of Weber's personnel policies.

"We can't go with a fellow who has nepotism in his office and expands his staff," Dick said, noting that Weber's wife is employed on the state's attorney's staff.

Dick said Weber has taken credit for stiffer sentences when increased penalties for Class X crimes and residential burglaries have accounted for many of the longer sentences.

Also, offenders are sentenced by judges, not by prosecutors, he added.

The GOP committeeman called Weber a "grandstander" who has been remiss in prosecution of some cases.

DR. EDWARD RAGSDALE, Madison County Republican chairman, said Dick does not speak for the party, adding, "We are united behind Weber."

J. J. Dick acknowledged that part of his opposition to Weber stems from a burglary at Dick's home. Loot totaled $4,700.

Dick said a felony burglary charge was reduced to a misdemeanor theft, even though the dividing line between felonies and misdemeanors is $300 value. And the thief was not ordered to pay restitution, Dick pointed out.

WHETHER ALLEN or Weber is best equipped to serve as state's attorney will continue to be discussed over the next dozen weeks. It is the chief county-level decision facing voters this fall.

Although absent at the association's gathering last week, Allen did not and will not concede the point about Weber's experience. Allen said, "I have tried more cases than he has by a long shot, dating back to 1960s."

"When elected, I will try a variety of cases, not just pick my cases for public purposes."

In the meantime, aided by the fact that he already holds the office, Weber will continue trying to stay in the spotlight as much as possible, maintaining a highly visible profile not only with his words but with his official actions on cases in all areas of the county.

FAILURE TO make a visual check of inmates every hour. Bridick agrees with all of the claims except the prison supervision allegation. He contends that inmates are checked every hour and that the police log sheet verifies the checks.

"You can come down and look at the log sheets yourself," he offered. "I think the concern with the cell checks is that the prisoners are not visible through the main door to the jail. The officers have to enter the cell area to check on inmates."

BRIDICK ALSO said he does not think it fair of the state to consider the Madison facility a jail. "It's not really a jail, I would call it a holdover facility," he said. "The prisoners are only there until they are taken to court, released or transferred to another facility."

He said he does not feel the conditions at the Madison jail are too bad, considering the purpose of a jail is punishment. "We don't run a Holiday Inn for prisoners here," Bridick said.

BRIDICK said that the city has complied with minor citations on the inspection reports such as soap and towels for the prisoners.

HE SAID TALK of a lawsuit began when an attorney representing Madison police officers, Thomas F. Sonnborn, made a statement at a city council meeting about what he termed "deplorable" conditions at the jail. "He made a public statement, but he didn't even bother to ask me beforehand what we're doing to rectify the matter," he said.

Bridick said Sonnborn made the statement after a request by him to speak at the meeting was denied by Mayor Mike Sasyk. "I don't think that it's Tom Sonnborn's job to worry about the condition of the jail—it's the job of the city and the attorney general's office," he said.

"His job is to represent the policemen, not the criminals. I don't think this should become an issue just because he couldn't speak at a council meeting."

Bridick said the city is working with Thomas "Buzz" York, a representative of a local construction company, who is preparing estimates on the jail repairs. "He's working on a plan that will move the jail cells around, so they will be in compliance," he said.

BRIDICK said he York's firm has done other renovation work in the city.

THE CHIEF said he has not received any word from the attorney general's office about a possible lawsuit. "The only thing I have received is the attorney general's inspection report," he said.

GOFF should be able to remove Johnson on November 1.

Johnson responded, "I won't be intimidated by either political party, if that's the purpose of it. The job comes first."

Ragsdale's letter also alleges that Johnson "is conscious of loyalty to the judge on the bench" and states that with 40 percent of the normal vote in the county being Republican, the past, the Democratic party did not do anything when Judge (I.W.) Streeter and Harold Clark (both former Republican judges in this circuit) ran. We did not oppose them. We encouraged voters to retain them," Johnson recalled.

School Board to apply for housing grant

In a special meeting Friday night, the Madison School Board accepted an option agreement with the Madison County Housing Authority to apply for grants to renovate the Dunbar School and Junior High School buildings. Both buildings are reportedly under consideration for use as a senior citizens' center in Madison.

The Dunbar School building is located at the intersection of Third and Jackson Streets, while the Junior High School building is located at the intersection of Third Street and Allam Avenue. Both buildings are vacant.

Because the Dunbar School building is being considered as a possible site for the senior citizens' center, the board last week delayed action to demolish the old annex which sits behind the school building. The possibility of using the Dunbar School building as a senior citizens' center was raised by Madison School Board member and city Alderman Don Garrett during the July 17 meeting of the Madison City Council.

In other action Friday night, the Madison School Board decided to advertise for an assistant principal for the Madison Middle School. Former Assistant Principle Charles McCaskill's resignation was accepted by the board during an Aug. 2 meeting.

Several board members indicated that they may not be able to attend the next school board meeting, scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 16. Madison School Superintendent John Palchick says that meeting may be rescheduled for Aug. 20. On the agenda for the next school board meeting is consideration of the tentative budget for this next school year.

McCasill has resigned his post to become principal of Levey School in Brooklyn, Ill., and he will take over the position this school year. McCaskill had been with the Madison School District since 1960.

The board will also advertise for home economics and physical education teachers for the Middle School for this school year.

January 1986, so the unused part of the money is being invested and drawing interest, which could add in balancing this year's budget.

There also is some money left over from the 1983-84 fiscal year budget, which could be called a "surplus budget," since revenues exceeded expenditures in two categories. The educational fund had $67,000 more in revenues than in expenditures and the building fund showed a $160,000 surplus.

The actual budget was out of balance but the district made a concerted effort to spend as little as possible throughout the winter and spring.

Inter-City Baseball Robins sweep McDonald's; win division title

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

BROOKLYN — Coach Ray Harris' McDonald's Inter-City baseball team is one of two teams to have defeated the powerful Brooklyn Robins this season. But it was a different story here Sunday evening as the Robins flexed their collective might to sweep a double-header from McDonald's 13-3 and 12-9.

Behind the pitching of Larry Reed and Craig Davis, Brooklyn won its 22nd and 23rd games of the season and in the process clinched the Red Division championship. McDonald's, which still had a shot at the division title had defeated the Robins Sunday, will finish behind the Robins in second place.

"This is a dream come true," said a jubilant Clyde Thomas, Brooklyn's coach, after the game. "It's like we've just flown off to heaven," he said after being soaked in Champagne by his players. It's Brooklyn's first year in the Inter-City League.

SUNDAY'S games featured two vastly different teams. McDonald's, now 20-6, started the afternoon with 10 players, allowing just one reserve. And, by the second inning of the second game, things went from bad to worse. Following injuries to two of his athletes, which left both sidelined, Harris was forced to play or forfeit the game.

In the first game, McDonald's catcher, Steve Ficker, was forced to leave the game following a collision at home plate in the fourth inning. In the second inning of the nightcap, Kevin Patterson was struck in the right elbow by a Davis pitch and never returned.

BROOKLYN, in contrast, did not have a reserve problem. With 18 team members present for Sunday's game, the Robins had plenty of fresh athletes by the time the second game swung around.

"They're a good ball club," Harris said of Brooklyn. "But two things really hurt us today — not having any reserves and errors."

"We just didn't have the depth to compete with them today," Harris said. "We got two kids hurt and I have to go into the game to fill in the second game. I don't mind playing, but I shouldn't have to. Some of these kids I'll see every week, but others I can call half an hour before the game and they'll tell me they'll be here and then they'll never show up. It's tough to compete when you don't have any reserves."

AND, as for the errors, McDonald's committed 10 of the miscues in the first game which virtually took them right out of the game.

Errors were fewer — three — in the second game for McDonald's. In fact, for awhile, it looked as though McDonald's might just defeat Brooklyn in the nightcap.

Behind the pitching of Jeff Parker, McDonald's cruised to a 4-2 lead after two innings, and managed to keep ahead of the Robins until the bottom of the fifth inning when Brooklyn scored three times to take a 10-8. And, once ahead, the Robins never looked back.

PARKER, who went the distance for McDonald's in the second game, struck out five and walked seven. Mike Zukas, McDonald's hurler in the opener, struck out one and walked three.

"Our guys threw two fine games tonight, but I think we may have even done better or even won if our other three pitchers would have shown up," Harris said. "We had more than our share of errors tonight, but that comes from playing kids out of position. But, that's what you have to do when you don't have the numbers."

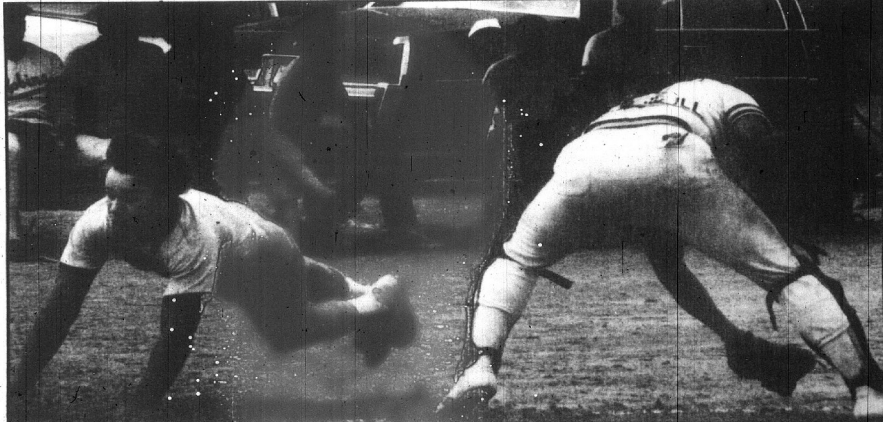

Offensively, Sunday's games weren't too bad a showing for McDonald's. In the first game, McDonald's managed 10 hits, just three less than the Robins, despite the 10-run difference in the final score.

IN THE second game hits were even at 11 apiece. Welding the hot bats for McDonalds were Tom Stegemeier, 3-for-4 with a triple, and John Vrennick, 2-for-2, which included a double which bounced over the fence and two walks.

Even player-manager Harris, who says he hasn't faced live pitching in 15 years, was 1-for-3 and made contact a double which bounced over the fence and two walks.

Brooklyn's hot man at the plate was Rob MacIn who went 3-for-4 with a triple.

Next Sunday, the final week of regular-season play, McDonald's will meet its intra-city rival, the

In Witchita Spanky's splits pair in NBC tourney

By AL BARNES

WICHITA, Kan. — The 7-Up/Spanky's bounced back with a vengeance here Sunday afternoon to defeat Shiner, Texas, 7-0, in a loser's bracket of the annual National Baseball Congress tournament which got underway Friday night and will conclude August 19th.

Late Saturday night, ninth-ranked nationally Beatrice, Neb., had defeated Manager Bill Stolte and his 7-Up/Spanky's, 9-3, but not until the losers had hung in there until the bottom of the eighth frame and trailing by only two, 4-2.

The Sotolar Pointers of St. Louis lost a first round game Saturday, dropping a real slug fest, 12-9, to sixth-ranked Clarinda, Iowa.

In Sunday's Spanky's victory over the Shiner, Tex., Clippers, Marc Cluckman, ace southpaw from St. Louis' Washington U., hurled a four-hit shutout to increase his season's record to 7-1.

Offensively Sunday, the Spanky's threatened to break the game wide open the first three innings by loading the bases all three times, but failed to score. But, in the fourth inning, the Illinois nine broke the scoring dam by pushing seven runs across the plate.

Len Bledsoe, a Ladue native and a member of the Maryville College squad, delivered the big blow in the rally, a two-run single. For the game, however, Mike Roy, a native of Waterloo, and a star on the Western Kentucky team, won a brilliant 4-for-4 with three runs batted in.

The Cape Girardeau, Mo., Capahua, who were invited here to fill out the draw when an Arizona qualifier couldn't raise the expense money, will see their first action Wednesday when they take on Grand Rapids, Mich., the defending NBC champion.

Tuesday night, back home in Edwardsville, the Spanky's will attempt to sharpen up their game for the return Friday to Wichita by playing the East Alton Stags at 7:30 p.m.

In Inter-City Action Chiefs take twinbill from Cahokia

GRANITE CITY — In Illinois Inter-City League action Sunday, the Granite City Chiefs swept a double-header from the Cahokia Braves 9-4 and 15-0 up their record to 8-18 on the season.

The Chiefs received fine pitching performances in both games of the twin bill. Ken Crawford got the win in the first game as he went seven innings striking out seven Cahokia batters. Crawford also helped his team out with a three-run homer in the first inning.

Dominic Griffin was credited with the win in the second game as he was backed by 15 Granite City runs and finished off Cahokia in just five innings.

IN ADDITION to Crawford's big blow in the first game, several other Chief players contributed with key hits.

Granite City took the lead early as they scored five runs in the first to take a 5-0 lead. Rich Takmajian and Mike Gage got the inning started as they both singled.

Griffin reached on an error by the shortstop that allowed Takmajian to score. Brian Levin hit into a fielder's choice to score Gage before Crawford delivered his three-run blow.

Cahokia retaliated with two runs in the top of the first to pull within three, 5-2. That was the closest the Braves managed to get the rest of the game.

GRANITE CITY "added runs in the second, fourth, and fifth to put the game out of reach. If it were trying for a split as it scored five runs in the top of the third to take the lead 5-1."

However, Granite City came roaring back in its half of the inning to score four runs and tie the score. Dennis Gurkin delivered the key hit for the Chiefs with a two-run homer.

While holding Cahokia scoreless, Granite City went on to add six runs in the fourth and four in the fifth to take the victory in five innings by the 10-run rule.

GRANITE CITY — Coach Dennis Gurkin was very pleased with his club's performance. After beginning the season with a 0-13 record, Coach Gurkin's squad has been 8-5 in their last 13 games.

"We weren't as bad as our record showed in the first half," said Coach Gurkin. "We just didn't get any breaks."

"We lost to Brooklyn 2-0 and O'Fallon 4-0, and they're two of the top teams in the league. With a couple of breaks we might have been able to win those games."

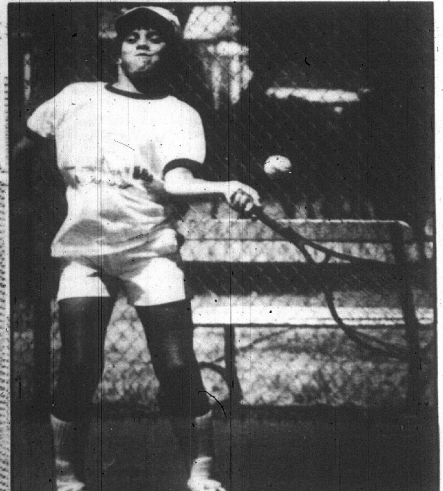

Coach Gurkin was also very happy with the performances of both his pitchers.

"BOTH PITCHERS gave 100-percent today," said Gurkin. "Crawford has pitched in tough luck all year. His record is something like 1-5, but he has pitched a lot better than that."

"Dom (Griffin) did a good job too. He pitched all five innings in the second game. He can usually give you five or six strong innings. He'll do just about anything you need him to do."

The Chief's final league games of the year will be next Sunday at Wilson Park when they will meet Granite City McDonalds in a double header. The Chiefs will also be competing in the league consolation playoffs which will be held Aug. 26. They will face the Metro Wildcats in the first round.

Outdoors Duck Stamp judging highlights 'Waterfowl Weekend' Aug. 25-26

Judging of Illinois' prestigious "Duck Stamp" art competition and a wildlife art exhibition will highlight an "Illinois Waterfowlers' Weekend" slated Aug. 25-26 at the Decatur Holiday Inn, Illinois Route 36 West and Wyckles Road.

Activities are set from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

The Prairie State's finest wildlife artists will vie for the opportunity to have their work appear on the 1985 edition of the Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Hunting and Conservation Stamp, commonly called the "Duck Stamp." Last year's competition attracted more than 70 entries, according to Tom Hecht, coordinator of the contest for the Department of Conservation.

In addition to having his work appear on next year's stamp, the contest winner will receive a $1,000 purchase award provided by the Illinois Chapter of Ducks Unlimited, and 100 artist's proof of the print. Ducks Unlimited will sell and auction a signed, limited edition series of 750 prints of the winning entry to support the organization's waterfowl conservation efforts.

Proceeds from the sale of duck stamps are split equally between DUC and Ducks Unlimited and are used to acquire and develop waterfowl habitat in Illinois and Canada, Hecht said. All Illinois waterfowlers, except those exempted by law, must purchase a duck stamp before hunting each season. In addition, Hecht said, many stamp collectors purchase stamps for their collections or as investments.

In addition to the Duck Stamp competition, the Waterfowlers' Weekend will feature the Illinois Duck and Goose Hunters Alliance annual waterfowl calling contest and an IDGHA Waterfowlers' Awards banquet honoring legislators, conservation officials and others for their contributions to waterfowl management and hunting.

Many of the state's top wild life artists will participate in the Pride of the Prairie Wildlife Art and Decoy Show, an exhibition and sale of prints, paintings and wood carvings.

Throughout the weekend, visitors can hear guest speakers and discussions of waterfowl conservation issues, or see movies on waterfowl conservation including one which highlights the 50-year history of the federal duck stamp program.

The conclave is a cooperative effort by the Department of Conservation, Ducks Unlimited, Illinois Wildlife Productions and the Illinois Duck and Goose Hunters Alliance.

For further information, call IDGHA President Dick Behrends at (217) 455-8273.

For Friday's Festivities Luncheon, GC Night tickets still available

Granite Cityans will have two opportunities to honor one of its favorite sons, Dal Maxvill, on Friday, Aug. 17.

In addition to Granite City Community Night at Busch Stadium, which has already been slated for that evening, Granite Cityans will be able to attend a luncheon that afternoon for Maxvill at Charlie's Restaurant. Tickets for both outings are available at Mark Goldenberg's office located in the Sam Worby building, and at the Press-Record Sports Desk.

Maxvill, a member of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals' World Series teams in 1964 and 1967 and now a coach with the Atlanta Braves, will be in St. Louis as the Braves begin a three-game series with the Redbirds.

Maxvill, who grew up and played Little League baseball in Granite City, is perhaps best known by Cardinal fans for his clutch hit in the seventh game of the '67 World Series which sparked the Redbirds to a Series victory over the Boston Red Sox.

In addition to the two World Series that Maxvill spent with the Cardinals, he was later traded to the Oakland Athletics of the American League and went on to shine for A's during their heyday in the early '70's.

Tickets for the luncheon are $20. Proceeds from the Aug. 17 Dal Maxvill Luncheon will benefit the Granite City Park District Youth Baseball League.

Incidentally, tickets to both the luncheon and the baseball game may be purchased at the Wilson Park office during business hours. In addition, the park is offering bus transportation to the ball game for $4.

Persons seeking further information about about either the luncheon or the Granite City Community Night at Busch Stadium should contact Goldenberg at 877-0608 or the Press-Record Sports Desk at 876-2000.

To Benefit Waterfowl New GC Ducks Unlimited chapter plans funding banquet on Sept. 13

According to Tony J. Zedolek, chairman of the newly organized Granite City Ducks Unlimited committee, persons from Granite City and surrounding areas interested in participating in a practical conservation program will be given an opportunity to do so come this fall.

As a local representative for the international waterfowl conservation organization Zedolek said, "When it comes to conservation, there are a lot of good people out there with good intentions who would really like to make a positive difference in how wildlife is perpetuated on this continent, but just don't know how to go about it."

Zedolek went on to say that he volunteered to help raise funds for Ducks Unlimited because of the organization's impressive habitat track record. Since 1937, Zedolek said that this private, nonprofit organization has constructed more than 2,100 wetland projects throughout Canada — a country where over 70 percent of North America's ducks and geese are produced and where Federal Duck Stamp dollars can't be spent. As a result, Ducks Unlimited has reserved more than 3 million habitat acres and created more than 13,000 miles of crucial nesting shoreline for the waterfowl.

Concluding his remarks about the importance of DU's conservation effort Zedolek stated, "Our committee will soon be calling on conservation-minded individuals within the community to help support our DU fundraising banquet scheduled for Sept. 13 at the Granite City Knights of Columbus Hall. We're going to have a lot of good food, good prizes and good fun for everyone, and those who attend can rest assured the dollars we raise are going to a very good cause."

During the fund-raising banquet there will be an auction of valuable art prints by famous wildlife artists, such as John Eberhardt, Lynn R. Katz and George C. Kieffer's "Illinois Duck Stamp."

Tickets for the banquet are available at Lane's Archery, 1817 Delmar or from Vernon Lockridge at National Auto Parts, 19th and Madison Avenue, or from Zedolek.

Persons seeking further information about the banquet or Ducks Unlimited may contact Zedolek at 877-2458.

Sports of all Sorts For clarity's sake

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

We are only human, consequently my column, "Sports of all Sorts," has carried some items which have turned out to be mistakes.

For that, I'm sorry. But, more frequently I have goofed in longer articles on teams and athletes in the past. I'm sure that there have been more cases of errors than our readers haven't written or called about.

One such feature, that about the first Granite City High School varsity wrestling team had more than its fair share of misuses.

I could do the "big" thing, the Beau Gesture as it were, and take the entire blame of the foul-ups on the initial Warriors' mat team, but I won't because it wouldn't be right.

First off, let's make the big correction. It concerns one of the wrestlers listed in the 1933-34 Granite City High School varsity wrestling team, the first of a long and brilliant list.

In that wrestling photo, in the front row on the extreme right, we had identified the young man as Rich Holzhausen, which was not only incorrect but not spelled right. The mistake was brought to my attention by the wrestler's son, Mark, at the urgent request of his mother, Gerry.

Instead of Rich, it was his older brother (Mark's daddy), Clifford Holzhausen. Mark is now office manager of the Granite City Steel Employees Federal Credit Union. We had mistakenly misspelled the name. Sorry, Gerry, and Mark Mr. Holzhausen passed away in 1970, but Mark says his mother still proudly displays the team picture in her home.

Probably an even more glaring goof-up was leaving out in the photo identifications, the name of the squad's No. 1 star, John Dufner. He was a student of mine, a standout athlete and a darning. If not always "by the book" bridge player.

Young Holzhausen also pointed out two other errors, both in the photo caption. The wrestler Munz Terrace had an "N" added to his name, making it Terrance. And, the team coach and manager was wrestling at Granite City, Robert English, had his last name changed to "Edwards."

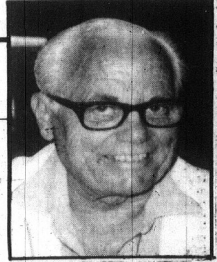

Now, back to the cause for the mistakes. I hinted at it in the fifth paragraph, in which I pointed out the teamwork called for to "get out" a newspaper without too many mistakes.

Here's how it works. The reporter or columnist, as it were, writes his column or story. He turns it in to the editor, who goes over, (edits), his copy carefully for errors of spelling, grammar, good tastes, etc.

I hasten to add, at this point, that I, unlike most reporters, do not consider all editors butchers. A good editor can help make any reporter's story better.

The copy of the main story was "edited" with, I think, no mistakes. It was in the body of photo caption that the mistakes took place and for a very good reason. Normally, the reporter or feature story writer is right there in the reporter's office and reads "proof" on his copy when in proof. If I had, instead of working out of my home, been there in the Press-Record, I would have, 99-out-of-100 times, caught the dropping of John Dufner's name. And, the spelling of the coach's name Edwards instead of English will always baffle my Sports Editor, Al Gerstennecker and myself.

Now, most "copy" is set directly by the reporter on typesetting computers and not by the printers as of olden days down in the composing room. In the case of the wrestling caption, however, I have reason to believe that Gerstennecker sent the underlines down to the composing room to be set up by my old tennis playing buddy from down Mound City and Cairo way, Al Edwards. He apparently got the job and set his own last name instead of English. Of course, he'd never admit it, but there isn't any other more logical explanation for the goof-up.

But, whatever, dear readers, keep those letters coming in.

Warrior kickers begin on Wednesday

Boys attending Granite City High School this year who are interested in representing the Warriors on the soccer field should attend the first scheduled practice this Wednesday, Aug. 15, at 9 a.m.

According to Warrior soccer coach Gene Baker, athletes should meet in Memorial Gymnasium and be ready to play. Athletes, however, will not be permitted to compete until they have had a physical examination and submitted their parent permission slips.

GC HS spikers begin Aug. 15

Granite City High School girls' volleyball practice will begin Wednesday, Aug. 15. Girls interested in playing volleyball this year should attend practice which will begin at 9 a.m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

According to Granite City volleyball coach Wilma Schulze, all girls must have parent permission slips turned in before they will be allowed to practice.

Permission slips can be picked up at the high school office or at the high school or when physical examinations are being offered Aug. 9.

Madison kickers begin

There will be an equipment meeting Tuesday, Aug. 14, at 11 a.m. at Madison High School for any boy interested in trying out for the Madison High School soccer team this fall. Actual practice sessions will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 15.

Madison soccer coach Gene Briggs reminds all players that they should have a physical examination before attending practice.

GC HS golfers begin Aug. 20

Russ Chappell, Granite City High School's golf coach, has stated that day, Aug. 20, as the day for his team's first practice.

Chappell said returning lettermen and veteran golfers are asked to be at Arlington Golf Course at 1:30 p.m. while incoming freshmen and upper classmen who did not compete last year are asked to come later, at 3 p.m.

Following a welcoming talk, Chappell said his golfers should be prepared to take to the course.

Madison volleyball practice begins

Girls interested in playing volleyball for Madison High School this season should meet for practice Aug. 22 at 10 a.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Students should bring either their insurance forms or their parent release form to the first practice. Coach Carol Cole also welcomes incoming freshmen who are interested in playing volleyball, to try out for the team at this time.

Trojan spikers begin Aug. 22

All girls interested in playing volleyball for Madison High School this season should meet for practice Aug. 22 at 10 a.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Students should bring either their insurance forms or their parent release form to the first practice.

Coach Carol Cole would also like to welcome all incoming freshman girls, who are interested in playing volleyball, to try out for the team at this time.

GC HS girls' tennis begins on Aug. 15

Any Granite City High School girl wishing to try out for this year's tennis team should report to the high school tennis courts on Wednesday, Aug. 15. Practice will begin at 9:30 a.m. and all girls should come dressed in proper athletic attire.

Coach Dick Harmon welcomes all incoming freshmen to try out for the team and welcomes them to Wednesday's practice.

Parent permission slips must be turned in before any student will be allowed to practice. Slips may be picked up at the high school office or at the high school physicals being held Aug. 9.

Gators' gridiron gear pickup

Boys who attend Grigsby Junior High School and wish to come out for football should plan to pick up their equipment Monday, Aug. 27, between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m.

According to head coach John Sikora, equipment will not be issued to any boy who has not had a physical within the last year. Parent permission slips will also be issued at the time equipment is distributed.

Practice will begin after school Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Nelson's begins fall softball league

Lord Nelson's Sports Complex located in the 4000 block of Pontoon Road, is currently accepting teams for its fall slow-pitch softball league.

Play in the fall league will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 4, immediately after Labor Day. The complex is accepting men's, women's as well as coed teams for the league.

Team managers interested in signing their teams for the league or for further information should call 391-6324 during the day or 391-4497 in the evening.

Deer archery season maps made available

Persons seeking information about archery deer hunting seasons in Illinois or other states may find the information they need at a local sporting goods store.

According to Nate Barg, general manager of Earl's Sporting Goods Stores, the store in downtown Granite City is offering a map of the continental United States listing opening and closing dates of deer archery season.

Soccer rules meeting set for Aug. 22

Soccer officials and coaches seeking to keep up to the most recent rules changes made by the Illinois High School Association may wish to attend a meeting at Granite City High School on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

According to GCIS Athletic Director Greg Patton, GCIS will host a rules and interpretation meeting in the high school gymnasium annex at 7:30 p.m. The meeting, which will be led by Haig Nighoghossian, is not exclusively for coaches and officials.

Interested persons wishing to attend are welcome. Patton said.

Tessary sets new Arlington golf record

Perry Tessary, one of the owners of Arlington Golf Course, etched his name into that club's record books even further than it already was last Monday, Aug. 6.

Tessary, who had already shared the course record by shooting a 64 on the par 72 18-hole course in 1964, improved upon that record by two strokes last week, shooting 10 under par 62.

Witnesses to the 10-under par performance were Ted and Dale Muller and Bill Duncan.

Rujawitz signs with Benedictine

The Benedictine College athletic department has announced that Terry Rujawitz, a Granite City resident, has signed a letter of intent to play football at the College next season.

Rujawitz, 6'1", 210 lb. tight end and linebacker, was an All-Conference and honorable mention All-State performer while captaining the Granite City High School team. He had 29 receptions for a total of 380 yards, an average of 13.1 yards.

Terry is the son of Daniel and Janice Rujawitz, 5100 Sheila. Granite City, Benedictine is the largest, four-year, Catholic liberal arts college in the state of Kansas.

Select team soccer tryouts

Boys 12 and 13 years old who are soccer enthusiasts may wish to contact two Granite City men to register for a Select Team tryout which will be held in the coming weeks.

According to Phil Achenbach, any boy who was born in 1971 is eligible to tryout for the team. Achenbach requests that youths interested in trying out for the Select Team call him at 931-3045 or Tim Thompson at 452-3197.

Catholic Charities helps families cope with problems

The Quad-Cities Catholic Charities recognizes the special problems of family life today. It understands the assault on one's self-esteem and dignity that may be suffered in the coping with family problems.

Clients from all walks of life are served in accordance with their individual needs. Race, religion, nationality or other factors are not considered in providing such services. THE FAMILY'S and individual's dignity and value are stressed at all times. In all of the available programs and services, one will find the common thread of reverence for life and for love.

Mary Alyce Beardslee, a Catholic Charities social worker, points to the severe stress family life may undergo in coping with a financial crisis. "Too often the family may find itself unable to provide adequately for the children's needs," she said. "A young mother with two children may be simply unable to make ends meet. She may face the choice of paying rent or buying food or paying utilities. 'Heat or eat' is an often-heard cliché, but it does describe the predicament quite accurately."

Dave Daly, also a social worker with the agency, agrees with his colleague. "When you read the statistics, it really doesn't occur to you that there is a tremendous amount of human suffering and despair in each of these situations," he said. "The parents' sense of worth is diminished or lost. We see it as essential that we address the material, emotional and spiritual needs of our clients."

"YOU SEE A lot of despair and helplessness in many cases. The parents and the children suffer both individually and as a family unit, so there are many variables to consider in our approach to a given problem."

Services provided to Catholic Charities clients include family therapy, counseling for One of parents, marital, premarital, individual counseling and financial assistance counseling. Clients are assisted in developing insight and planning an adjustment in terms of their unique situation, with both long and short term goals.

Foster care, adoption and maternity residence programs are offered as well. Foster placement is provided.

BATTERY COMPLAINT ISSUED IN VENICE

The grandfather of a 16-year-old Venice youth signed a battery complaint with police last week, after his grandson was allegedly confronted by another youth.

The victim told police that he was approached by another youth, who asked him if he could rent his bicycle. When the victim refused, the other youth allegedly tried to pull his shirt off and scratched his neck.

Q: What would happen if I paid the full amount due on a credit card then, later, returned the merchandise for credit? This would amount to an overpayment on the account, but how is it handled with regard to credit cards?

A: This situation can and does often happen usually in just the way you described. One of two things might happen. First, the creditor must give you a refund if you request it, whenever you have overpaid your balance by a dollar or more. These requests can be made by mail, and can also be made by telephone. Most businesses and financial institutions which issue credit cards will credit your account with the amount of the overpayment — or, in this case, the merchandise credit. This will be reflected on your regular credit card billing, and will be applied the next time you use your card, against the resulting balance. Once again, if the overpayment is for one dollar or more, you may request and receive a refund.

Applicants needed for school crossing guards

Applications are being sought this week from individuals interested in positions as school crossing guards in Granite City. The 1984-85 school year starts Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Those wishing to apply for the part-time jobs may complete an application at Mayor Paul Schuler's office in the City Hall between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

The city hires 16 regular guards and maintains a list of at least two alternate guards, it was noted.

Current pay for school crossing guards is $14.50 a day, which includes a split shift of about four hours, it was learned.

Men and women may apply. There is no age level listed. Successful candidates are required to take a physical and an eye examination, it was noted.

Laycock family celebrates reunion

The Laycock family reunion, celebrated annually since 1937, was hosted Sunday, Aug. 5, by Edith and Allen Charbonnier at their home, 31 Eduardo Drive.

A potluck dinner and pool party was attended by 41 family members. Those present included Ernest Laycock, Mr. and Mrs. William Laycock and children, Leslie and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Charbonnier and children, Ron, Mike and Michelle; Mr. and Mrs. James Dickerson, Tammy Adams, Mary Hellingner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Schooley, Omer Ronk and grandson, Doug; Mrs. Hazel Ronk and Rebecca Parish.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leach and daughter, Jill, of Carlinville, Ill.; Bertha Crawford of Modesto, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Crawford and sons, Donnie and David, of Springfield, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Krumreich of Glen Carbon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Reinhardt and children, Ryan, Megan and Paige, of Carlinville and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klein of Collinsville.

Elkettes approve Elk picnic donation

The recent Granite City Elkettes meeting was called to order by President Mary Niescuer, with Kathryn Edmond leading the opening prayer. The minutes and bills were read and approved.

New money projects were approved, and it was agreed to donate $100 toward the Elk picnic scheduled for Aug. 12 at Highland Park in Highland. The Elkettes also approved the purchase of new drapes for the Antler Room at the Elk Lodge.

The Elkettes clown unit displayed the second place trophy for its float entry in the Shrine parade.

The attendance prize was won by Marge O'Neill, and the meeting was closed with a prayer by Kathryn Edmond. Refreshments were served by hostesses Marion Willard, Margaret Rush and Helen Bergfield. The refreshment table featured a light tablecloth with a silk flower bouquet centerpiece. Games were played after the meeting. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 4, with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m.

FOURTH EAGLE. Alan Lewis (second from right) is congratulated by his step-father, Ralph Kern, after Lewis received the Eagle Award at a ceremony this month. Lewis is the fourth member of his family to be awarded the highest Scouting honor. Also pictured are Lewis' mother, Louise Kern, and Scoutmaster Larry Brinker.

Lewis presented Eagle Award

Alan D. Lewis, son of Mrs. Louise Kern and the late Judge Austin A. Lewis, has earned the highest advancement award the Boy Scouts of America offers to Scouts—the Eagle Award.

Lewis was honored in ceremonies held this month at Engelbert Hall, Madison. A member of St. Mary's Church Troop 47, Lewis is one of approximately two percent of all Boy Scouts who attain the rank of Eagle Scout, according to Scoutmaster Larry Brinker.

A candidate must earn 21 merit badges and successfully complete a community or church service project to earn the Eagle Award. Lewis chose as his community project, a month long program for the children in the pediatric ward of St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He provided movies, told stories, worked with handicraft projects and provided coloring books and games for the children.

He has served in leadership positions as scribe, assistant senior patrol leader, senior patrol leader and junior assistant Scout leader. He also worked as a staff member at Camp Sumner during the summer of 1981.

His Scouting honors include the Ad

Altari Dei award, which he received in April 1982. He was also voted into the Order of the Arrow Lodge 126 in April 1981 and became a Brotherhood Member of the Order of the Arrow in April 1982.

Lewis also holds the distinction of being the fourth member of his family to receive the Eagle Award. His father received his award when he was 15-years-old, and his two brothers, Stephen and Austin Lewis Jr., received their awards in 1965 and 1969, respectively. All four family members were also nominated to the Order of Arrow Lodge.

Last week's award ceremony opened with a presentation of colors and a candle lighting ceremony focusing on the 12 points of the Scout law. Scout Master Brinker welcomed the parents and presented members of Troop 47 with merit badges they had earned at Camp Sumner.

Master-of-Ceremonies Leroy Stark, district Scout leader training chairman, then presented Lewis with the Eagle Award and Plaque. Ron Luebben, institutional representative read the Eagle charge to Lewis as he took the oath of acceptance. Lewis then presented pins to his step-father and mother.

Lewis is a senior at Marquette High School. His step-father and mother are Ralph and Louise Kern of 1624 Fourth St., Madison.

Out-of-town guests who attended the ceremony were: Mrs. R.W. Peutz of Alton; Mrs. Virginia Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lewis and children and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hayes and daughter, Michelle, all of Godfrey, and Linda Guthrie of St. Charles, Ill.

Women of Moose meet, set projects

The Granite City Chapter of the Women of the Moose 347 conducted its Academy of Friendship meeting at the Moose Lodge at 19th and Adams streets.

Academy of Friendship Chairman Nancy Woods opened the meeting and stated that the committee project for this year will be children's Easter baskets. She said the Academy of Friendship Christmas Party will be Dec. 4 at the Moose Lodge. The party will include a $5 gift exchange.

Members present at the meeting included Clara Johnson, Mildred Vatoupal, Margaret Hester, Carolyn Hester, Mariou Wilkinson, Mildred Walker, Sharon McWilliams, Jennie Bilyeu, Marian Lipscomb and Pat Macke.

A social hour, including lunch and games, followed the meeting. Lunch was served by Nancy Woods. The next meeting will be Sept. 4 at the Moose Lodge. Marian Lipscomb and Jennie Bilyeu will be hostesses.

JAN REYNOLDS

Social Security next BPW topic

Jan Reynolds, Quincy, Ill., who is currently serving as the Business and Professional Women's state recording secretary, will be guest speaker at a Granite City BPW dinner meeting Wednesday, Aug. 15. The meeting will be in Pascal Hall at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:30 p.m.

Helene Bischoff, finance chairman, is planning the meeting. Mrs. Bischoff explained that Jan Reynolds will speak on Social Security changes and how they will affect women. She has been a claims representative for the SS Administration since 1971 and has addressed many civic groups on Social Security as well as conducting retirement seminars.

Joyce Bennington, club president, said the speaker's BPW career spans many years, serving the club as recording secretary, vice president and two terms as president. She has taught courses and chaired several committees.

On the district level, she served as recording secretary, first and second associate director and director. On the state level, she served as foundation chairman. She owns her own business, an antique shop called Antique America.

Any working person in the Quad-City area is invited to attend. For information, Helene Bischoff can be called at 877-0903 after 5 p.m.

Class of '59 has reunion

The Madison High School Class of 1959 celebrated its 25 year class reunion last month at the Polish Hall in Madison with 75 people in attendance.

After a buffet dinner, the group was welcomed by the class president, Judge Charles Chapman, who extended a special greeting to faculty members Fred Riddle, Jean Bethel, Olin Kreuter and Wayne Carlisle. Greetings were also read from faculty members William Ledbetter, Mae Waters, William Coop and James Loy.

Prizes were awarded to Darrell Davis for the most children, Bernard Mosley and John Saddler for traveling the farthest, and to James Riskovsky, for the youngest child and the most grandchildren. The evening was concluded with dancing and socializing.

Quad-City policy on pupils' free or reduced-price meals

Granite City, Madison and Venice public schools and Sacred Heart, St. Elizabeth, St. Mary and St. Joseph, St. Mary and St. Mark schools today announced their policy for free or reduced-price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the national school lunch and school breakfast programs.

Local school officials have adopted for July 1984-June 1985 the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family size of one, $6,474 family income for free meals or free milk, or $9,213 family income for reduced-price meals.

Two in family, $8,736 or $12,432.

Three in family, $10,998 or $15,651.

Four, $13,260 for free meals or free milk, or $18,870 for reduced-price meals.

Five, $15,522 or $22,089.

Six, $17,784 or $25,308.

Seven, $20,046 or $28,527.

Eight in family, $22,308 or $31,746.

Each additional family member, $2,262 or $3,219.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free meals or reduced-price meals.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, households may fill out the application and return it to the school. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct.

An additional statement is added to warn the application is being made in connection with receipt of federal funds, that school officials may verify the information in the application, and the deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable state and federal statutes.

An application cannot be processed which does not contain the following information: 1) the total household income which must be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income (such as wages, child support, etc.) or the food stamp case number if the household is on food stamps, 2) names of all household members, 3) Social Security numbers of all household members 21 years old or older or the word "NONE" for any household member who does not have a Social Security number, and 4) the signature of an adult household member.

"Household" is defined as a group of related or non-related individuals, who are not residents of an institution or boarding house, who are living together as one economic unit.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family is to contact the school to file a new application. If the child is approved for meal benefits, the family must notify the school when household income increases by more than $50 per month ($600 per year) or when household size decreases.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with it and wishes to apply for free or reduced-price meals for them, the family should contact the school officials said.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for purposes of determining eligibility and verifying data.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his or her race, sex, color, national origin, age, or handicap. If members of a household believe they have been discriminated against, they are to write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Under the provisions of the Granite City District Nine policy, Michael Kanak, director of food services, will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he or she may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If he or she wishes to make formal appeal, he or she may make a request either orally or in writing to James Dumont, vocational and career education director, 20th and Adams, Granite City, Ill., 62040, telephone, 876-6000, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each Quad-City school has a copy of its complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Plan Commission to discuss zoning law

A special meeting of the Granite City Plan Commission will begin at 1:15 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 16, in the Mayor's Conference Room, 2900 Edison Ave.

Ed Crowe, a representative of Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, will be in attendance at the meeting. The discussion will concern possible changes in the city's zoning ordinance. Residents are invited to attend the meeting and submit written comments.

CLASS OF '59. The Madison High School Class of 1959 recently celebrated its 25-year reunion with a buffet and dance at the Polish Hall in Madison. About 75 former classmates attended the event.

Sims - Blochberger

Norma Jean Blochberger, formerly of Mitchell, and Otis Lee Sims Jr. were united in marriage at 3 p.m. Aug. 4 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James Stites of Lexington, S.C.

The marriage vows were performed by the bride's brother-in-law, the honorable James S. Stites. The bride was attended by her daughters, Miss Kellee Blochberger of Granite City and Mrs. Sheryl Smith of St. Peters, Mo.

The groom was attended by his son-in-law, Bob Weichel of Lexington, S.C.

A reception for about 50 guests immediately followed the ceremony. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom the previous night at the Lexington Arms.

The groom is employed by Glassmaster Boat Company of Lexington, S.C. After a short honeymoon trip, the couple will reside in Lexington.

Central Rural School dates back to 1805

(One of a series by the Old Six Mile Historical Society.)

Among the schools figuring prominently in the history of Quad-City education was the Central Rural School of Nameoki Township.

The first school taught in what was known as District 11 was operated as early as 1805 by Edward Humphrey.

It was located near the Six Mile House, a major landmark in the history of this community. The Six Mile House was situated on the old National Way, six miles from the Mississippi River.

A few years later, a schoolhouse was built of poles about two miles north of the original location, and was taught by Joshua Atwater.

Several years later, an Irishman named McLaughlin taught here. His chief merit as a schoolmaster was in his strength, an early historian wrote.

Students said McLaughlin carried his bottle regularly to school with him and always had a well-seasoned shillelagh. He could be counted on to use the stick whenever he encountered any shortcomings by his pupils.

He taught during the War of 1812, and more than one father felt he had a score to settle with the teacher upon returning from the field of battle and learning of injuries to sons.

Children from the families of Nathan Carpenter, Wadley's, Thomas Cummings, Amos Squire and the many Gillinghams attended this school.

In 1852, a frame school structure was built on Section 10 and was named the Ben Wood School after Wood donated the land for the school.

Wood had no children but reared his nephew, Isom Johnson, who came here in 1857 at the age of eight years.

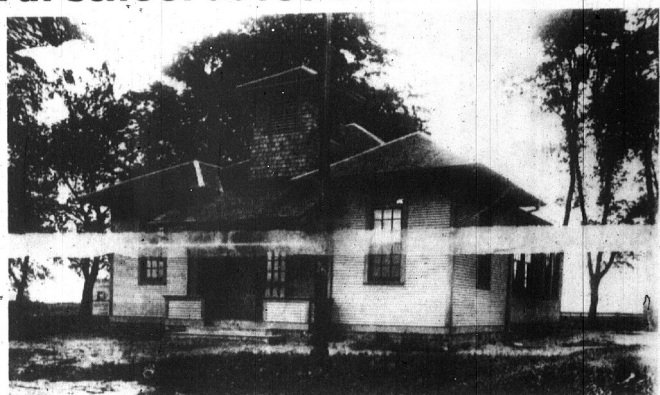

Johnson married in 1885 when he was 36. He chose as his bride Miss Margaret Watkins, the teacher at the Ben Wood School.

Minorities also attended this school, separated from the other children by a partition.

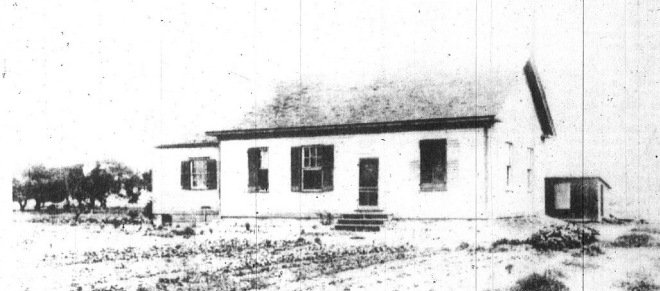

In 1896, the name of the Ben Wood School was changed to Central Rural School. Rebecca Livingston was the teacher and continued those duties in the early 1900s.

The small frame school was moved across the road in 1914 and was made into a home. It is presently the home of Julius Gieszelmann, whose family has owned the land for three generations.

A new school was completed for the 1916-17 school year. Maude Clark was the teacher and received $65 a month.

CENTRAL RURAL SCHOOL, 1916-1951

CENTRAL RURAL SCHOOL, 1852-1914

School directors were John O'Neil, Joseph Gieszelmann and Henry Branding.

In 1919, Frederica Tegmeier was hired. The following year, Edith West became the teacher and remained for two years.

Kathryn Lavelle was hired for 1922-23 at $90 per month. Edith West returned and continued teaching until 1928, when Imoe Smith became the instructor. The latter continued teaching at Central Rural for 23 years.

In 1951, Central Rural consolidated with the Granite City public school system.

The school was closed and its pupils began attending Nameoki School. Mrs. Smith was hired by the Granite City school district.

Nursing home hotline started

Governor James R. Thompson held a ribbon cutting ceremony Wednesday to inaugurate the 24-hour toll-free Nursing Home Hotline, designed to give residents, their families and interested citizens a central location for complaints or questions about nursing homes.

"The hotline will give us a 24-hour-a-day presence everywhere in the state," Thompson said. "Our operators will be available to handle emergencies, hear complaints or answer questions for any citizen who calls the toll-free number, 1-800-252-4343."

"We can't be everywhere, but with the hotline, all citizens will be able to register their concerns with the assurance that their questions or problems will be addressed promptly."

The hotline is part of an interagency Nursing Home Advocacy Program announced by the governor in his March budget message. It is operated by the Illinois Conference of Churches and supervised under an interagency agreement between the Department of Aging and the Department of Public Health. The hotline is funded by a $125,000 grant from the Department of Aging to the Illinois Conference of Churches.

In addition, the budget for the Department of Public Health includes a $2.7 million increase for an additional 104 staff members to improve nursing home regulation through more frequent and timely inspections.

40TH REUNION SATURDAY
FOR GCHS CLASS OF '44

The 1944 January and June graduating classes of Granite City High School will hold its 40th reunion at the Granite City Army Installation supper club Saturday, Aug. 18.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. A good response has been received from graduates of both classes, it was learned.

Last-minute reservations may be made by calling Jo Hulsey at 931-4006, or Shirley McCommis at 876-2359.

Local bank tellers
complete seminar

The tellers at First Granite City Savings have completed a three-week training seminar entitled the Personal Teller program.

The program is based in part on information compiled from the United States League of Savings Institutions. It is designed to polish customer policy, phone procedure and teller image.

Fred Williams, president of First Savings, said, "We're really going to upgrade their image. Our tellers are the most important people in the organization."

Williams said the Personal Teller concept is not new. "Even though our assets and liability figures have changed through 90 years, our objective is still to personally service the people of Granite City, that is the idea behind the Personal Teller."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

In most instances, when a Plaintiff files a lawsuit he is seeking monetary damages. This is an award of money, and there are several different types of damage awards depending upon the nature of the Plaintiff's case and the injury to be compensated. The most common types of monetary damages are nominal damages, actual or compensatory damages, and punitive damages. Nominal damages are typically awarded in cases where the Plaintiff has suffered no actual harm but seeks compensation for a technical right which has been violated. Actual or compensatory damages, on the other hand, serve to compensate the Plaintiff for his out-of-pocket losses, such as medical expenses and lost wages. The purpose of this article is to discuss punitive damages, which are usually awarded in an effort to punish a Defendant for intentional or reckless conduct.

Illinois Courts most often allow punitive damage when the Defendant's injury to the Plaintiff was caused intentionally. For example, in one case the party bringing the lawsuit was assaulted by the Defendant in an amateur basketball game. Here a jury awarded $362 in actual damages, which was the amount of the Plaintiff's medical bills, and $2,000 in punitive damages. The Appellate Court upheld this award of punitive damages and noted that a jury in a case such as this could take into account the misconduct of the Defendant when awarding punitive damages.

In that the primary purpose of punitive damages is to punish the Defendant and deter others from acting in a similar manner, it should be noted that Illinois Courts have not always required that the Defendant's acts be intentional. The Courts have also allowed punitive damages when the Defendant's conduct has been willful and wanton. This has been defined as a wrongful act which was not intentional but nevertheless exhibited a reckless disregard for the safety of others.

In one Illinois decision, the Court allowed punitive damages against a landlord in a case where a minor child fell through an opening in a staircase railing. After falling through the open staircase, the child landed on glass storm windows which were being stored in the stairway. The evidence at trial showed that the stairs had been in disrepair for more than three years despite repeated requests to the landlord to repair them. The Appellate Court here found that an award of punitive damages was proper because of the landlord's willful and wanton misconduct.

Taiwanese student learns communications skills at SIUE

By TOMMY WALTER

It doesn't make much difference whether they come from the American Midwest or from a country halfway around the world, a mass communicator's mission is reporting on the happenings in his or her corner of the world.

Shu-Ling Chen, a graduate student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE) majoring in mass communications, is no different.

MISS CHEN already had a great deal of experience in program planning, writing and anchoring news programs when she came to this country last year from Taipei, Taiwan. She also held an undergraduate degree in sociology from the University of Fu-Jen, a Catholic university in Taiwan.

She intended to pursue an advanced degree in sociology at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. However, after only one term at the school, Miss Chen changed her mind. She decided she wanted to expand her knowledge in the field of mass communications. So she transferred to SIUE.

"I realized I could apply what I had learned in sociology to mass communications. You really can't do it the other way around," she said.

MISS CHEN was already familiar with the mass communications program at SIUE, having learned about it from a friend in Taipei who had spent six years living in St. Louis.

Miss Chen's experience in broadcast writing and programming began shortly after she graduated from college. "I was lucky. I found a job right after graduation with a company producing television shows for one of the national networks," she said. Miss Chen was the news reporter for a news feature program, similar to P.M. Magazine, a news feature program produced in this country.

Six months later, she moved to a larger company providing the same kinds of programming for the three networks in Taiwan. In that position, she served as a program manager and moderator for one television program, and as a scriptwriter for three additional programs.

MISS CHEN felt it was a good position, one she could have maintained for years. However, she knew there was a lot more to be learned in her profession. "I was young and had no family responsibilities," she said. "I applied to come to America."

Miss Chen arrived on the Edwardsville campus in time for the summer term. Even though she had studied English since she was in junior high school, she had some difficulty with the language.

"Back home, I had little opportunity to use it. I never listened to the English-speaking radio stations. It was more comfortable to listen to Chinese stations," she said. "I knew textbook English; it was the daily language I was not familiar with," Miss Chen said.

CHINESE HAS A completely different language system, she said. "We say, 'I go to school yesterday.' We don't say, 'I went to school yesterday.' Miss Chen said, pointing out some of the differences in the two language systems.

It is easier for her now. "My instructor gave me a lot of encouragement," Miss Chen said, mentally reviewing the experiences of the past six months. "Of course, they didn't tell me how to do it all. So much to do," she sighed, adding, "How to do is another story."

Miss Chen must have figured out "how to" pretty quick, because she earned an "A" in the course that had been giving her problems.

WHAT WILL SHE do when she graduates? "It's hard to say. You have to see the opportunity," Miss Chen said.

While the Chinese student appears to be unsure about exactly what role she intends to play in mass communications, her ultimate goal is clear — that is, to let the rest of the world know what is going on in Taiwan.

One of her biggest concerns is what she refers to as the "imbalance of information distribution." The U.S. is a world leader when it comes to disseminating information about what is happening to its people. That kind of information isn't so readily available from other countries.

"The rest of the world knows much of what is happening in America. How much information do you know about other countries? Miss Chen asked.

CITING CHRISTMAS as an example, she said, "We know all about your Christmas beliefs, customs and celebrations. I know how important that is for you. You never know how important the Chinese New Year is for us."

"There is progress and technological advancement occurring in our country. We do undergo change, but people never know about those changes. They don't have the opportunity to see that in the mass media," she said. "The Chinese student went on to say, 'It is easy to get the wrong image about a country, when the only news you hear is negative.' She listed the reporting of tragedies, disease, invasions and wars as prime examples.

MISS CHEN WOULD like to see some changes in the reporting of world news, so that more positive news is included. It is quite evident, that one day she will be back in her homeland doing just that.

Emphasizing her determination to let the world know more about the positive side of the Taiwanese, she said, "I am only one person, but I will do what I can. I will struggle on this road. I can use what I learn to let the rest of the world know more about my country and its people."

COMMUNICATING ACROSS THE CULTURES. John Regnell, chairperson of the department of mass communications at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, takes Shu-Ling Chen, a graduate student from Taipei, Taiwan, on a tour of the university's television teaching facilities. Before coming to this country, Miss Chen worked for two companies that produced television programs for the Taiwanese national networks. Her experience includes broadcast writing, program planning and news reporting. (SIUE Photo)

BAC brings education to students via television

Belleville Area College isn't content with bringing a college education to more than 581 students via television.

The television staff is looking for ways to improve the program. They recently held a luncheon for the students who have taken more than 100 telecourses on the program.

WHAT THEY learned is the students want more telecourses. "I am not sure of Scott Air Force Base said it best. 'I just can't speak too highly of telecourses,' she said. "They're wonderful. They are also very addictive. I don't need the credits but I want to take them all and I wish there were more."

Marcella Baines of Belleville is also sold on telecourses. "I can't let a semester go by without taking one," she said. "I grew up during the Depression and I never had the chance to go to college. I never would have had the nerve to just come out here and take a class."

I THOUGHT everyone out here would be 18 or 19 years old, but I've found that I fit right in. The classes that have labs are especially good at easing you back into classes. They make you come out here three or four extra times."

Taking a telecourse allowed Mrs. Baines to get over a lot of common fears about returning to school. "My two daughter and one son-in-law were going out here," she said. "One of my first fears was that they would be bringing home better grades than me. But I'm the one bringing home straight A's."

Telecourses also helped ease Marguerite Howorka's entry into education. Like Mrs. Baines, she had gone to work during the Depression and never had time for college. Now, her job requires that she be near a telephone in the evenings. Telecourses let her work and get started on a college education. She takes both telecourses and classes at the main campus.

"I EVEN LEARN more with telecourses," she said. "Sometimes in class, we just get to talking over one aspect of a lesson, then the time is up and there is so much left to talk about. That doesn't happen with a telecourse."

Joyce Park also enjoys the brisk pace of telecourses. "Classrooms are almost too slow now," she said. "I like being able to look at the notes as the lecture is going on so I can listen to what is being said instead of trying to copy it all down."

Mrs. Park discovered telecourses when her husband was transferred to Scott Air Force Base. "They are great for military wives," she said. "I come from California and I didn't want to drive in the winters out here."

"TELECOURSES CAN be a big advantage to newcomers to the area, specially a class like Home Gardener, I like to garden, but I was totally unfamiliar with the soil here and what would and would not grow."

Like Mrs. Baines and Mrs. Howorka, Mrs. Park found telecourses whetted her appetite to come to campus for courses. "When you get your food in the door, it helps you get used to school," she said.

Students allow a student to earn college credit at home. Students complete homework quizzes by mail and are required to come to campus for courses and final examinations. A BAC instructor is assigned as a mentor for each course and students are encouraged to call or visit these instructors when they have questions.

Seven telecourses are being offered this fall. They are: Cultural Anthropology, a study of the origin and history of man's cultures; Introduction to Data Processing, a survey of the computer in informational systems; Earth Science, a study of our planet's place in the universe; U.S. History to 1877, an explanation of the development of the American civilization to the Reconstruction period; General Psychology, an introduction to the facts and scientific principles of the psycho-physical activity in human behavior; Private Pilot, a preparation for the Federal Aviation Administration written exam for private pilots; and The Home Gardener, a course in basic gardening.

Information on telecourses is available by visiting the telecourse office in room 1275 at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, or by calling 1-235-2700, extension 200.

Students include John David Vrenick of Granite City, who received a bachelor of science degree, and Edward Lee Burns of Madison, who received a bachelor of science degree with a secondary teaching certificate.

German reading course offered

"There is no quick and easy way to learn German, but there is a realistic way to master the basic skills," claims Paul Gaston, coordinator of September Option at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He is referring to "Reading German in the Arts and Sciences," a four-week noncredit course to be taught at the university by the staff of the department of foreign languages, through the Office of Continuing Education.

IT IS ONE of the offerings of September Option, an intensive learning opportunity, in the words of Barbara J. Teters, vice-president and provost, which "represents an important initiative in the university's commitment to making full use of its resources."

One valuable purpose for taking this course, Gaston notes, would be preparation for a graduate school foreign language requirement. Taking it could also expand the student's access to much of the world's best writing and some of the most important technical writing. "This is not simply an introductory speaking course for tourists," he said. "It is concerned with taking the student's reading capabilities to a significant level in a language many beginners consider formidable. This course should be approached seriously."

September Option covers four weeks of concentrated study, from Aug. 27 through Sept. 21. Registration is open during the week before the class begins, from Monday through Friday, Aug. 20-24.

There is a fee of $20 for the course; the text is available at the University Bookstore.

Welding course has openings

Many of the graduates from Belleville Area College's welding program have had success in finding employment.

There are still openings in WLD 253-01, a course which combines the theories behind many types of welding with hands-on practice with the welds.

THE COURSE covers gas tungsten, gas metal, flux cored and plasma arc welding. It will meet from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Wednesdays and from 7:25 to 9:55 p.m. Fridays, beginning Aug. 29.

Plan Silver Dollar City park trip Sept. 21—23

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a trip to the Silver Dollar City area of the Missouri Ozarks in September.

A chartered bus will leave Wilson Park ice rink parking lot at 8 a.m. Friday, Sept. 21, and return about 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 23, it was announced.

Cost of the trip will be determined by the number occupying a room at the Edgewood Motel, located on Highway 76, west of Branson. The entire amount must be paid in full at the time reservations are made.

Included in the price will be bus fare; motel lodging; ticket to a country western show and admission to Silver Dollar City. Also included are a wine and cheese reception at the motel upon arrival and a free continental breakfast each morning.

Additional side trips may be taken and admission will be paid at that time. Total costs are $111.60 for a single room, $80.30 for two to a room, $71.65, three to a room, and $67.65 for four to a room.

Enroute to Branson, a breakfast stop will be made at St. James, Mo. An additional stop will be made, before arriving at the motel.

Friday evening's entertainment will be the new two-hour music show at Silver Dollar City. The group will spend all day Saturday at Silver Dollar City, where the popular "Crafts Festival" will be in session, and at a country-western show that night.

Coming back, the excursionists will stop Sunday at the Wilderness Clock Shop in Reed Springs, Mo., before heading to Springfield for lunch at the Piccadilly Cafeteria. Other stops will be made, including the winery at St. James, before arriving in Granite City at the designated time.

Reservations may be made Friday, Aug. 17, at the Wilson Park office. Proof of residence must be presented by each person and non-residents will be placed on a waiting list. No more than four reservations can be made by one person.

Lions announce Labor Day fest

The Venice Lions Club has announced that its annual Labor Day Carnival will operate Aug. 31 through Sept. 3 at Lee Park.

The carnival will feature rides, games, food, refreshments, attendance prizes every hour, an appearance by the Vess Soda hot air balloon, an antique auto show and music.

Those persons or organizations wishing to rent a booth for the four-day event are being requested to call 451-9914. Booths will be rented on a first-come, first-served basis. All funds raised during the carnival will go to Lions activities.

News notes

Jersey County Judge Howard Lee White has dismissed Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber's motion to dismiss special prosecutor Paul C. Verticchio's appeal of the dismissal of official misconduct charges against Weber. In a separate matter, Weber is preparing to pursue misconduct charges against County Assessment Supervisor James Barton. And William Haine, a member of the Madison County Board, is urging that the board refuse to pay a $28,756 bill from Weber's defense attorneys.

The Sierra Club has joined the Illinois AFL-CIO in endorsing Paul Simon for election to the U.S. Senate. He is the Democratic nominee Nov. 6.

Nanna Collins, 51, Springfield, Timothy Wren, 28, Lemont, Ill., and a third individual will receive $1,291,000 each as last week's winners of the Illinois State Lottery lotto game.

Release Venice man to St. Clair County

In a court appearance last week in Granite City, Warren A. Deboe, 32, of 311 Weaver St., Venice, entered a guilty plea to charges of aggravated assault and disorderly conduct. He was assessed a fine and was released to St. Clair County Sheriff's Department on an active warrant alleging battery.

Deboe was arrested during the weekend in the 300 block of Weaver Street after a Venice officer broke up a fight among three persons and advised them to leave the area.

Deboe allegedly pushed the officer and a short scuffle ensued before the arrest was made, reports said.

CUB plans to elect directors

The election of the first permanent Board of Directors of the Citizens Utility Board will be conducted Dec. 22, in accordance with an election schedule finalized by CUB's interim Board. One member of the permanent CUB Board will be elected by the dues-paying CUB members in each of Illinois' 22 Congressional Districts. Balloting will be conducted by mail.

Members of the CUB Board administer and set policies of the statewide utility ratepayers' watchdog group, which was organized under legislation passed by the Illinois General Assembly in 1983. The interim board of 11 was named by the governor and Illinois' four legislative leaders earlier this year.

In announcing the election schedule, Board Member Edna Summers, a former Evanston alderman who chairs CUB's Election Committee, stressed that CUB will strictly enforce its guidelines. "The elected CUB Board will be truly representative of the concerns of utility ratepayers all over the state," said Mrs. Summers. "But we must see to it that the candidates who are running conduct themselves well. That's the only way the new CUB Board can retain the confidence of its members."

Candidates seeking election will be required to submit nominating petitions containing the valid signatures of 30 CUB members in their Congressional District, or five percent of the total membership in that district, whichever is less. Petitions will be available from CUB on Aug. 23.

Petitions must be filed no later than Oct. 23, with certification scheduled to close on November 1. Once candidates are certified, they will be provided with the names of fellow CUB members from their district. Ballots will be mailed to all CUB members on Dec. 3. The close of balloting will be at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 22.

All candidates will be required to sign financial disclosure and ethics statements, and will be required to limit their campaign spending to $2,500. In addition, candidates will be required to sign a statement which obliges them to utilize the CUB membership list for nothing more than proper campaign purposes. The penalty for improper or unauthorized use is potential forfeiture of a CUB Board position, should that candidate be elected.

With few exceptions, any CUB member is eligible to run for the board, provided he or she is 18 years of age and has met all certification requirements. Under state law, however, the following persons are ineligible to run for the CUB Board or to serve on it: directors, officers, employees or agents of public utility companies or their immediate families; elected public officials or candidates for elected public office; staff members or paid consultants of CUB; and state public officials, employees of the Illinois Commerce Commission, or governmental employees exempt from the Illinois Personnel Code.

"We're anticipating a spirited election," said Mrs. Summers, who is not a candidate. "Anyone with an interest in helping to become a truly powerful consumer advocate should give serious thought to running," she said.

Probation order in Todd plant burglary

Jeffrey Thrasher, 21, of 2641 Missouri Ave. has been placed on four years of probation on a burglary charge filed Feb. 21. He pleaded guilty before Associate Judge Edward Ferguson April 2 and the sentencing followed in mid-June.

In addition to the probation, the judge ordered Thrasher to make restitution of $700 and to pay $30 in court costs. The case involved burglary of the Charles Todd Uniforms Co., 229 Ennis St., where coin machines were forced open and a large tool chest and a window air conditioner were taken.

Thrasher this year was put on two-year probation and was fined $100 by Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill for a Dec. 22, 1983, burglary of the Kienstra Concrete Co., 2801 Circle Drive.

FINED, PUT ON PROBATION FOR GRANITE CITY THEFT

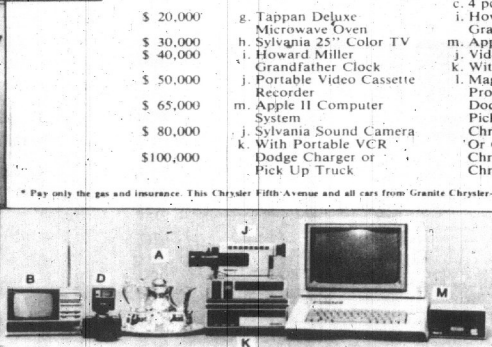

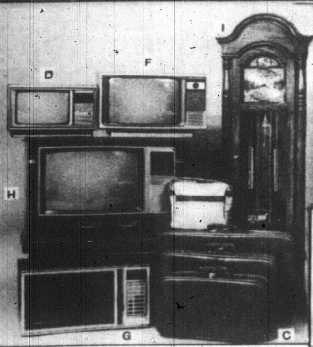

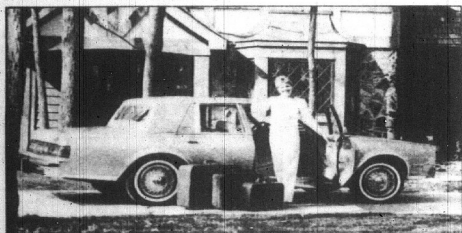

John Crane, 32, of 2138 Illinois Ave. has been fined $200, assessed $85 in court costs and $50 in special costs, and placed on two-year probation.

Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. presided. Crane was charged May 21 with a felony theft (more than $300 value) occurring in Granite City. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced in July.

Architect selected for swimming pool

The Granite City Board of Park Commissioners, at its regular meeting Wednesday night, selected Hastings and Chivetta Architects and Planners, a St. Louis firm, as the designers of the proposed new swimming pool. The board hopes to place a referendum on the Nov. 6 ballot for a bond issue to finance the pool construction.

A resolution calling for the referendum, including a general description of the proposed pool and the project's cost, must be approved and filed with Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles no later than Aug. 31 to appear on the November ballot.

The architect firm selected is the same firm that designed the Wavetek pool proposed by the park board six years ago.

During the meeting, the park commissioners also approved the final payment to R.W. MacDermott and Associates, consulting engineers, for work connected with the present pool and recommendations on options to the board. The payment was for $2,246.

The consulting work included the inspection of the present pool, recommendations to the board including preliminary plans for a new pool and options on renovating the existing facility, and technical assistance at the first of three public hearings held by the park district board.

A recommendation by Director of Parks and Recreation David Nolan concerning the opening date of the park district ice rink also was approved by the board.

The ice rink will be opened for rental time only on Oct. 13. Public sessions will begin on Thursday, Nov. 1. Rental fees during October will be reduced to $35 per hour at any time. Fees are normally $50 per hour during prime time, 6 a.m. to midnight, and $35 per hour from midnight to 6 a.m.

A seven-week Slimettes class will begin two weeks early, on Aug. 20, on the approval of the board. Also approved was a request by the Tri-City Area United Way to utilize the ice rink on Sunday, Sept. 9, for a pre-fall campaign kickoff event.

AUTO HITS PARKED TRUCK

Robert F. Ruth, 17, of 3113 Ash Ave. was hurt and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:05 a.m. Friday after he apparently fell asleep while driving. The front of his southbound auto struck the rear of the parked pickup truck of Dennis Isaak, 2525 Madison Ave., at the latter address.

HURT IN CRASH WITH TREE

Marie Dokmajian, 56, of 1646 Olive St. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center this month from the 3100 block of Fehling Road. Her car, backing out of a driveway, collided with the auto of Sandra Braswell, 2338 Cleveland Blvd., and then struck a tree.

IN MEMORY OF EDDIE L. PARKS, who passed away two years ago, August 1982. Our hearts still ache with sadness and secret tears still flow, what it means to lose him, we only know he passed away and could not say goodbye. Each time we see his picture, we think to smile and say, "Don't cry, I'm only sleeping, we'll meet again when Mom, Dad, brother, sisters and all, who loved him, meet him again." 29 13

MESD to get tough in collecting delinquent bills

By SUSANNE-INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

If a customer doesn't pay his electric or telephone bill, he loses the service. But that's not the case with Metro-East Sanitary District customers. If they don't pay, MESD Board President and Executive Director Walter "Shang" Greathouse says, the MESD is left "holding the bag."

But Greathouse hopes that will change soon. During a MESD board meeting Thursday, Greathouse told the board that the sanitary district needs to get the help of community officials in collecting delinquent sewer treatment bills from customers. Greathouse proposed that the board draw up letters of agreement with community officials, asking that those officials either cooperate with the MESD in collecting delinquent bills or that the officials physically "knock on doors" and collect the bills themselves.

GREATHOUSE said that the MESD currently collects about 86 percent, "at the most," of its billing. The collection rate, he noted, varies with each municipality. Greathouse offers several suggestions to aid in collecting delinquent bills. "We try to get the owners (of rental property) to include the sewer charge on the rent," he said, adding that if renters move away, the owner will be responsible for the sewer bill. He also suggests removing the 10 percent late penalty fee attached to each delinquent bill. "I'd like to get rid of the penalty so the customer can catch up on the bill in arrears. The penalty has caused some people to come in, and we try to get it out with those people. Once they come in here, we work out a payment plan and set the penalty aside. My story to them is, please pay your current bill."

GREATHOUSE says the MESD has taken extreme action, such as cutting off service and putting liens on property. "I hate to take that kind of approach with anyone," he stated, "but we will eventually get the money because we have hundreds of liens on property. The problem is we don't need the money five years from now, we need it today."

At one time, the MESD had about $350,000 in delinquent bills, but Greathouse said the district has been able to collect about 70 percent of that. "It would be easy to raise the rates to compensate for someone who's not paying his bills, but I'm not going to do that," he commented.

The MESD did, in fact, raise rates 350 percent during its meeting Aug. 9, but that rate increase was implemented to raise the funds needed to join a regional sewer treatment facility. Before the rate increase, the minimum sewer bill for Lansdowne Sewage Treatment Plant customers was $1.95 a month. Once the rate increase is in effect, that bill will be $6.82 a month.

GREATHOUSE admits that the rate increase may make it even harder to collect delinquent bills. "What I'd like to do when we institute the new rates is to have everybody start even, but work harder to collect the money."

The rate increase is one reason the MESD will be soliciting help from local officials in collecting overdue bills, he said.

In other business, Greathouse told the board that consulting engineer George Sallwasser has indicated that public notification of the sewer rate increase for Lansdowne customers can be made by notifying officials and leaders of each community served by the plant, instead of notifying each individual customer.

THE LANSDOWNE area includes Madison, Venice, Brooklyn, National City, Washington Park, Caseyville, Fairmont City, East St. Louis and unincorporated parts of Stites and Canteen townships.

Greathouse also informed the board that the delay in receiving property tax revenues from Madison County has resulted in the layoff of about 15 part-time laborers, about 75 percent of the part-time work force. He predicted that there will be more changes as time becomes tight. During the Aug. 9 meeting, Greathouse told the board that he refuses to borrow money to make ends meet while the MESD waits for its share of property tax revenues.

GC air quality cited again

There has been significant improvement in the quality of Granite City's air since 1981, but the city still holds the dubious honor of having the state's highest level of particulate matter in the air for the 12th consecutive year.

Granite City also holds the highest quarterly average in the state for lead in the air, but not in excess of the average health standard, according to the 1983 report issued by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency Thursday.

"READINGS FROM the statewide air monitoring network generally show lower average and peak air pollution levels in 1983 than occurred in previous years," the report notes.

Dan Goodwin, manager of the IEPA's Air Pollution Control Division, commented, "We expect the air quality to continue to improve because more and older polluting automobiles are being replaced with newer, cleaner vehicles and because of improving pollution control on industry. The air pollution data for the past several years shows a definite downward trend."

Granite City's air monitoring station at 2001 E. 20th St. continued to hold the record for the highest readings of suspended particulates in the air of the 107 monitors in the state. It was one of only 11 sites which recorded annual averages above the health standard of 75 micrograms per cubic meter.

THE GRANITE CITY monitor recorded 134 micrograms per cubic meter, the same as in 1982, to hold the highest reading for the 12th consecutive year. However, the particulate count is significantly lower than the 1981 average of 190 micrograms per cubic meter.

The highest daily measurement at any site during the year was 909 micrograms per cubic meter in Arlington Heights, Ill., in the Chicago metropolitan area, May 6, when a freak dust storm covered the northern two-thirds of the state and resulted in many sites measuring values in excess of the daily short-term health standard of 260 micrograms per cubic meter, the report noted.

Granite City also was listed in the report as having the highest quarterly lead average in 1983 at 1.04 micrograms per cubic meter measured at 15th Street and Madison Avenue. However, the figure is lower than the 1.87 and 7.27 micrograms per cubic meter measured as quarterly highs during 1982 and 1981, respectively.

THIS REGION also was listed as having high ozone concentrations, but Alton and Wood River listed the highest readings in the Metro-East area.

"Ozone concentrations in 1983 were generally higher than 1982, especially in the Chicago and East St. Louis areas," the report noted. "All monitoring sites in the two areas recorded at least one day in excess of the health standard of 0.12 parts per million (ppm). The site in Wood River recorded the most excursion days with 13, while the nearby site in Alton recorded the highest one hour concentration of 0.214 ppm."

In the Chicago metropolitan area, Evanston recorded the most days in excess of the standard with six days while a Chicago proper site recorded the highest hourly concentration of 0.188 ppm.

"THE MAJOR reason for the turn to higher ozone concentrations and more days exceeding the health standard in 1983 was meteorology. From late June through early September, the weather was sunnier, warmer and had less rainfall than normal. These conditions were ideal for ozone formation and transport," the report noted.

"Additionally, many days of ozone-conducive weather occurred consecutively, allowing for greater ozone build-up. Although there was an increase in ozone levels in 1983, a trend analysis shows that since 1977, ozone levels in Illinois have been declining and ozone air quality continues to improve," it added.

Federal pressure to impose mandatory auto exhaust tests in Madison and St. Clair counties and the Chicago metropolitan area is not supported by the findings in the report which show that carbon monoxide levels in this area (auto exhaust is a prime cause of high carbon monoxide levels) does not have a serious problem.

A TOTAL OF 14 sites measured carbon monoxide levels during 1983 and only one site, Chicago (160 N. LaSalle St.) measured more than one eight-hour average in excess of the health standard of nine ppm. That site measured 29 periods above the eight hour standard as well as the highest hourly concentration of one site with 31.0 ppm. These levels were only slightly higher than in 1982, when the same site measured 24 periods in excess of health standards and had a high one hour value of 21.4 ppm.

The IEPA report also deals with sulfur dioxide and nitrogen dioxide levels in the state. None of the test sites exceeded the annual health standards, it notes.

Of the 29 sulfur dioxide monitoring sites, the average was only 0.009 ppm, while the health standard is 0.03 ppm. The East St. Louis monitoring site had the highest annual average of 0.02 ppm, which is well within the health standards.

THE ONLY SITE to monitor a 24-hour average of sulfur dioxide in excess of the short-term health standard was Wood River, possibly due to the oil refineries there. Wood River recorded three separate occurrences in excess of the short-term standard of 0.14 ppm, the highest being 0.195 ppm in a 24-hour period.

Of 21 monitors testing for nitrogen dioxide, no sites exceeded the annual health standard of 0.05 ppm. The monitor at 338 S. Clark St., Chicago, recorded the highest annual average of 0.044 ppm. The statewide average for nitrogen dioxide was 0.030 ppm, compared to 0.037 ppm in 1982 and showed a continuing downward trend which began in 1979.

Driver 'ran out of road,' crashes into a house

A Madison man has been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol by Pontoon Beach police following an accident last week in which the vehicle he was driving crashed into the bedroom of a home on East Lake Drive.

Pontoon Beach police charged Rodney G. Sanner, 22, of 708B Madison Ave., Madison, with DUI following the incident.

Sanner was traveling west on South Drive when "I" intersect with East Lake Drive, and failed to turn either way on East Lake Drive, driving into the yard on East Lake Drive eventually crashing into the bedroom of the northwest corner of the vacant home.

Sanner was later found by arresting officer Harold Denham walking along Illinois Route 111. Denham took Sanner back to the scene of the accident, where skid marks exceeding 112 feet were measured.

When asked about the accident, Sanner allegedly stated, "I simply ran out of road," the report said. Sanner was released after posting $102 cash bond.

MADISON INVESTIGATES FRIDAY RAPE INCIDENT

Madison police are continuing to investigate the rape of a 16-year-old Edwardsville girl who reported the incident at 3:45 p.m. Friday. She said the act had occurred 12 hours earlier after she went to the residence of a man she had just met to retrieve a gold chain.

The girl was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for an examination. She reported being at an area lounge before going home with the man to get back a necklace she loaned him.

Once at the home, believed to be located in West Madison, the man took off her blouse, pushed her backward and she was raped, she told police. Afterward the girl walked to the apartment of a Venice friend.

Some hours later she went to the Venice Police Department, where an officer drove her to Madison police station to make the report.

May expand review board

Expansion of Madison County's Board of Review was endorsed Thursday by a committee of township and county officials.

The committee will recommend that the 29-member Madison County Board increase the part-time assessment review panel from three to six members for the remainder of this year.

FOR NEXT YEAR, the committee is proposing expansion of three full-time review board members. The goal is to bring the real estate tax collection process closer to normal timing.

With taxes being billed and collected late year after year—and especially late this summer—many governmental bodies have begun borrowing large sums to meet their operating costs.

The review board conducts hearings for real estate owners who object to their township-set assessments. It also revises some of the assessments and sets what township multipliers are needed to avoid a state-set countywide multiplier.

THE COMMITTEE is suggesting that the County Board seek state legislative action permitting quadrennial reassessments to be staggered over the four years to ease the work of refiguring property values.

The committee is now uncertain whether to push for accelerated tax billing—utilizing an estimate for the first of a year's two tax installments. It fears that excessive costs might be involved.

Bob DiPaolo, deputy county treasurer, said the cost of accelerating might be $250,000 instead of the $70,000 that has been discussed.

COUNTY TREASURER Mick Henkhaus did say he will conform to the specified 30-day interval between tax installments this year, in stead of the 60-day delay he has ordered in past years.

Tax bills are supposed to be mailed by June 1 but they may not go out this summer until late August or possibly September.

Mrs. Mary Kane, director of administration in the county government, said four counties that were contacted had found accelerated billing so expensive they abandoned it, but they were pleased with the workload that can be shouldered by full-time review boards.

COUNTY ASSESSMENT Supervisor James Barton supported the concept of a full-time Board of Review but noted that two of the present three members in Madison County might not be able to accept full-time duties.

Some action to expedite taxes may be taken Wednesday at the August session of the County Board.

One of the possibilities is formation of a study group to develop long-range as well as short-term remedies.
